ALL READY FOR THE BIG FAIR

Ten Thousand People Visit the Grounds Yesterday Dispite Threatening Weather.

ALL NOW DEPENDS ON WEATHER MAN

Only the Exhibitors Will Be Admitted to the Grounds Today.

Fully ten thousand people journeyed out to the exhibition grounds and the east end park yesterday afternoon in spite of the threatening weather. The band concert in the park attracted a large crowd but by far the greater number of the people walked on to the fair grounds and saw all that there was to be seen. The grounds presented an appearance almost as animated as during fair week. With hundreds of men and women working busily getting their exhibits and "concessions" in shape and the thousands of sightseers, it was an interesting scene.

"It all depends on the weather man, now," said Manager Stark, when seen in his offices. "We have just about completed our work and with good weather to dry out the grounds and assure a big attendance, this year's fair will be a record breaker."

Today is the exhibitors' day at the fair. The general public will not be admitted and the grounds will be closed to all those except having business at the exhibition.

Information Bureau.

The exhibition association have established an information bureau at their offices on 625 Second street, and placed J. A. McIntyre in charge. The citizens of Edmonton have responded well to the appeal for room to let during exhibition week for visitors who are unable to secure hotel accommodation or prefer private houses. Mr. McIntyre will be able to provide sleeping accommodation for over 1500 people, with those who already have sent in their addresses and terms, and more undoubtedly will be furnished. Any further information as to rooms should be telephoned direct to the information bureau, 'phone No. 6796.

Grandstand Attractions.

A splendid list of attractions has been engaged to be presented in front of the grandstand at the fair in the afternoons and evenings of each day, including some special numbers engaged direct from the Western Vaudeville association, of Chicago, and embracing the Sutcliffes, a Scotch troupe of acrobats, dancers and musicians; the De Dio Circus of trained ponies and dogs, including the "evergreen bucking mule"; the refined and artistic act given by the Daivis Family, mother father and four children; and a troupe of Japanese jugglers.

One of the best features of the evening's performance will be a great military tatoo. The tatoo is an event that takes place in the army camps of the world at the end of the day's maneouvres, each country having different forms. The tatoo arranged for this fair will be national, showing detachments of the armies of England, United States and Canada, etc., presenting a magnificent array of color, marching soldiery and fireworks.

Kline Shows Arrive.

The Kline shows arrived yesterday, and will be in full operation on Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock.

A rehearsal of the military tatoo will be held on Monday evening, and this very attractive feature of the program will be introduced on Tuesday evening.

The reserved seats in the grandstand for the evening performances have been placed at 25 cents in order to give everyone a chance to see the excellent program which will be provided.

Every department is now complete, and all the exhibition needs is good weather to ensure great success.

NO FRICTION OFFICIALLY.

Hon. Dr. Reid Knows Nothing About Difficulty With G. T. P.

Ottawa, Aug. 10.—"So far as we are officially aware, there is not now, nor has there been any friction between the government and the Grand Trunk Pacific. Any controversy which has occurred concerning the taking over of the Transcona-Superior Junction section by the company has been absolutely confined to the newspapers, for neither from the company nor from the commission have we yet had any notification of the company's alleged obligation to take over the line."

Such was the statement made by Hon. Dr. Reid, acting minister of railways, when his attention was called to a recent statement made by E. J. Chamberlin in Montreal.

Aviation Speed Trials.

Salisbury, England, Aug. 10.—In the military aeroplane speed trials today, the Hanriot monoplane was officially credited with 74.6 miles an hour. The French Deperdussin with 69.1 miles and the Bleriot monoplane with 61.1 miles.

CROPS MATURING FAST.

Recent Warm Weather Has Brought Grain Along With Great Rapidity.

Winnipeg, Aug. 10.—Generally favorable and optimistic is the crop report of the Canadian Pacific Railway covering the week ending yesterday With the exception of the last two days the weather the week through the southwest has been just a trifle cool for the growing crops, but late reports on Friday showed that the fine ripening weather prevailed. There has been no change from either cool or cloudy weather as there was no enough to ripen. Cool weather has had the beneficial effect of causing the head to fill well and warm bright weather from this time forward is the only thing needed. Cutting the whole province of Manitoba will be general by the 15th. There have been a few light hail storms but not enough to do any damage on the whole Like the drought of June the area affected by hail is very small. In Saskatchewan and Alberta cutting has started and will be general by the 20th. Heads are well filled, straw is of medium length and the prospect is very bright for the largest yield per acre in Saskatchewan of any of the provinces. Clear, bright weather will make the crop in the south fully up to the average and in the north from 10 to 15 per cent. above the average.

FRANCE JOINS PROTEST AGAINST U. S. ACTION

Le Temps Pointedly Remarks That Americans Would Better Serve Their Commercial Interests by Restricting Their Legal Engagements.

Paris, Aug. 11.—Quoting approvingly American protests against the action of the American senate in passing the Panama bill, which, among other things, provides for the remission of tolls to American vessels engaged in coastwise and foreign traffic, the Paris Le Temps in an article published today, foresees a tariff war of all the powers against the United States unless President Taft vetoes a course "which wrongs the interests of the rest of the world and belies the solemn affirmation of the cabinet at Washington that the whole purpose of the work at Panama was in the interest of mankind in general."

Le Temps, which says that it does not wish to intervene in a controversy until the American government has definitely decided the course it will take, concludes:

"Perhaps the Americans better would serve their commercial interests by more scrupulously respecting their legal engagements. Fidelity to a pledged word is often sagacious." The French newspapers anticipate that France will back up the British protest. At the foreign office, however, it was said that no decision had yet been taken.

SOCIALISTS AND POLICEMEN CLASH

Number Injured and Over Forty Arrested During Street Trouble—Prospective Speakers Arrested as Soon as They Appeared.

Pittsburg, Aug. 11.—A number of young persons were injured slightly and over forty arrested here late tonight in a clash between socialists and policemen. The trouble started when the Socialists for the second time within eight days, attempted to hold a street meeting for which a permit had not been issued. Thousands of persons had congregated at the meeting place. As the speakers mounted an improvised stage and attempted to address the audience, they were grasped by the police and sent to a nearby station.

Meanwhile, the crowd became so dense and a call was sent for additional police. A mounted squad numbering thirty officers reached the scene within a few minutes and charged the crowd. Several persons were injured in the mix-up.

Little progress was made by the police, however, and the crowd increased. Patrol wagons were backed up to the speakers' stand. The moment a prospective speaker appeared he or she was placed in the wagon. At least a dozen women and children were taken into custody.

ASHORE IN DENSE FOG.

Ore Laden Ship Blocked Channel Till She Was Pulled Off.

Sault Ste Marie, Mich., Aug. 10.—Going ashore in the dense fog which overhangs the lakes and Ste. Marie river the steamer Filbert, down bound ore laden blocked the West Keebish channel for a few hours. Traffic was not delayed to any extent, however, as the Collingwood noticing her predicament pulled her out and released her The fog has been almost continuous for the past three days.

The passenger steamer Chippewa, running between the Soo and Mackinaw Island, cancelled her trip both today and yesterday on account of the weather conditions.

PUBLIC HEALTH SUNDAY IN CITY

Many Doctors Deliver Addresses in City Churche on Interesting Subjects.

SPEECHES OF WELCOME GIVEN ON SATURDAY

Dr. H. G. Mackid, of Calgary, Installed as President of the Canadian Medical Assn.

SIR JAMES GRANT WAS 82 YEARS OLD YESTERDAY

"Many happy returns of the day" are in order for Sir James Grant of Ottawa, the oldest, and one of the most active doctors in attendance at the medical convention. Sir James celebrated his 82nd birthday yesterday. He spent it in activities that would tire many a man half his age. He spoke in the Knox Presbyterian church in the morning, at the First Baptist church on the North side in the afternoon, and ended the day by attending a dinner given by Dr. Mackid in the evening at the Corona hotel, at which he responded to a toast in his honor.

Today's Program.

9 a.m.—Meeting of sections.
1 p.m.—Lunch at High school.
2 p.m.—General session. President's address. Address in surgery: The Extension of abdominal Surgery as due to improved Technique—Mr. Giles, London., Eng.
3:30 p.m.—Meeting of sections. Meeting of the Canadian Medical Protective Association.
4:30 p.m.—Garden party, on Mrs. E. A. Braithwaite's lawn, 5·0 Third street.
9 p.m.—Smoker at the Corona hotel.

Extending the glad hand of welcome to the visiting members of the medical profession in attendance at the convention of the Canadian Medical association, Lieut. Gov. Bulyea and Mayor Armstrong formally opened the sessions of the convention at the high school on Saturday afternoon. A goodly number of delegates and visitors were present when the ceremonies started with the invocation by the Rev. Archdeacon Gray.

An interesting feature of the program then followed, when Dr. H. Goodsir, Mackid, of Calgary, the president-elect, was formally installed as the head of the Canadian Medical association. Dr. Braithwaite performed the ceremony in the absence in England of Dr. George E. Armstrong of Montreal, the retiring president.

The Lieutenant Governor then spoke a few words, welcoming the delegates to the province. He suggested that they could very easily see that the climate of Alberta raised men big physically from the examples afforded by the new president and himself.

Mayor Armstrong Speaks.

Mayor Armstrong, after he had extended to all the doctors the freedom of the city, told those who came to Edmonton from distant points in the Dominion some of the chief characteristics of Edmonton. He outlined the form of civic government, and suggested that in view of the great unrest in many eastern cities over their forms of municipal government, that the doctors take a little time to study Edmonton's system, so that they could do some missionary work when they returned home. He drew a hearty round of applause when he told the visitors that in Edmonton a man is not taxed on his income or on improvements that he might make to his property. Single tax seemed to appeal to the members of the medical professon.

At the meeting of the executive council on Saturday it was decided to postpone until this morning the election of the executive council for the coming year. Outside of the formal opening of the convention, the work done was purely of a committee nature.

Scores of doctors continued to come into the city during Sunday, among some of the arrivals being Dr. Fortin of Winnipeg, who it will be remembered married Miss Webster, an Edmonton girl; Dr. Primrose of Toronto; Dr. Moodie and Dr. Goode of Winnipeg, and Dr. Henderson. It is expected that fully one hundred doctors will arrive this morning.

Will Be Better Than Last.

Already this year's convention promises to outshine last year's gathering at Montreal. At that convention 275 were present, and as there are nearly 200 doctors in Montreal, a large percentage of the gathering was composed of Montreal physicians. This year there are already 175 registered, and in this number appear only a few of the names of sixty doctors in Edmonton. It is estimated that there are 250 visitors here now, including the wives of the delegates. With today's arrivals, the attendance at the convention should reach well up to 400, of which at least 350 will be visitors, so that Edmonton convention compares most favorably with those of past years.

Expressions of delight at the warmth of the reception they are receiving are constantly on the lips of the visiting doctors and their wives and friends. The local doctors and their friends are doing everything in their power to give the strangers a good time. Trains are met and the delegates sent to hotels or private homes. All the visitors are being provided with a little booklet containing invitations; these include the extension of the privileges of the Edmonton Club to all the visiting doctors, a similar courtesy from the Edmonton Golf Club, a ticket for the boat trip up the river, which was used Saturday evening by over half a hundred physicians and their wives; the invitation for an auto tour of the city, also on last Saturday afternoon; the garden party at Dr. Braithwaite's this afternoon at four o'clock, the smoker in the Corona hotel this evening at nine o'clock, the public meeting and reception in the high school tomorrow evening, the daily luncheons in the high school, and a complimentary ticket to the exhibition for Wednesday afternoon.

Physicians in Churches.

Many of the doctors spoke in the city churches yesterday, while all of them spent the rest of the day in visiting or getting acquainted with the people of the city. Dr. H. A. McCallum, professor of medicine in the Western University, of London, Ont., talked to a large audience in the First Presbyterian church at the morning service on "Can a Man Think Health Into His Own Body?" Dr. McCallum showed how the state of a man's mind had a great deal to do with the health of his body. He told one story showing how hard it was to make some people believe that they were all right. A woman imagined that she had swallowed a lizard. She went to many doctors, but they could not convince her otherwise. Finally one physician conceiv-

1000 KILLED IN TURKEY 'QUAKE

The Injured Are Said to Number Between Five and Six Thousand Persons.

MANY TOWNS HAVE BEEN WIPED OUT

Centre of the Disturbance Was in the Region of the Dardanelles.

Constantinople, Aug. 11.—Reports here today indicate that the great earthquake shock which was felt through a great part of Turkey was accompanied by much heavier loss of life than at first stated.

The newspapers today estimate the victims at 1,000 killed, while the injured are said to number from five to six thousand. The details of the earthquake ,which are coming in slowly owing to the interruption of the wires, indicate that the seismic disturbance was widespread Several hundred persons have been killed, thousands are homeless and outbreaks of fire have occurred in many of the towns and villages.

Great Destruction.

Great destruction has been caused by the upheaval. The entire district between Constantinople and Adrianople felt the shock severely. Fugitives from Myriophito report 30 killed and 600 injured. The town was still burning when they left. Ganos-Hora has been wiped out, 80 persons being killed and thirty wounded. The wrecked buildings took fire and most of them were burned to the ground. Shaer-Koi was completely destroyed and two nearby villages were engulfed. Adrianople suffered little damage but Tchorlu was partially destroyed by fire and earthquake.

The centre of the disturbance appears to have been in the region of Dardanelles. Eye witnesses have arrived here from that section and give harrowing accounts of the havoc wrought.

Many Houses in Ruins.

The majority of houses in Gallipoli are in ruins and the people are camping in the fields. Tchanak-Kelessi is in an upheaved state, but the loss of lives in these small towns is small, although the injured are many.

The shock was felt in warships anchored in the Dardanelles. It was first attributed to Italian torpedo boats. The captain of the American steamer Virginia reports that the lighthouse at Ganosh-Hora in the sea of Marma has disappeared and that the villages surrounding are in flames. He was unable to anchor and render assistance owing to the vionent movement of the earthquake.

SHOWED SIGNS OF POISON AFTER EATING CANDY

Peculiar Case in Hamilton Where a Teamster named James Bruce, is Under Arrest—Chocolate Sent His Wife Were Eaten by Her Sisters and a Friend.

Hamilton, Ont., Aug. 11.—James Bruce, aged 22, a teamster, was arrested this afternoon, the police, however, declining to say what the charge against him will be. The story, however, that is told in connection with his arrest is quite out of the ordinary.

Bruce ,it is said, was married a sort time ago to Ada Dalby, a young girl, who for the past two weeks has been an inmate of the city hospital. This afternoon, it is alleged, Bruce called at the hospital to see his wife and left her a box of candy. Mrs. Bruce did not partake of any of the candy, but this evening when her sisters, Gertrude and Ethel, with her friends Rose Zieppe and Maggie Vance called to see her, she gave them some of the chocolates.

It was not long after that Miss Zieppe was taken seriously ill. She was seized with convulsions. Although the hospital doctors did everything in their power to save her, she died in a short time in great agony. The other girls were ill, but after being given an emetic recovered. The police were reluctant to say anything about the case. Mrs. Bruce is in a delicate condition and the shock might seriously affect her.

SCHEPPS CAUGHT AT HOT SPRINGS

Another Alleged Participant in Rosenthal Murder Is Now Under Arrest.

THE NEW YORK POLICE UNAWARE OF CAPTURE

The Prisoner Admits That He Is the Keynote to the Situation.

Hot Spring, Ark., Aug. 11.—Sam Schepps, wanted in New York in connection with the murder of Herman Rosenthal was placed under arrest in this city late last nigh He is guarded by an officer, who, it is reported, is holding him pending advices from the District Attorney's office in New York.

"I am ready to go back to New York without any requisition," said Schepps, "but I want to know that everything is all right."

"I am the keynote to the situation in New York ,and if they want me to treat the district attorney's office right, they will have to treat me right."

Schepps said today that he has not decided whether he will join with Rose, Vallon and Webber in a confession. The alleged go-between added that he would make up his mind on that question while on the way east. The arrest was made through a detective agency.

New Impetus to Case.

New York, Aug. 11.—The arrest of Sam Schepps in Hot Springs has given a new impetus to the Rosenthal case. It is considered the most important development since the confessions of Jack Rose, and "Bridgie" Webber, which led to the indictment of police lieut. Chas. Backer, as the alleged instigator of the murder. Schepps has been wanted badly by the District Attorney to complete the evidence he has of the assassination plot.

One of the most interesting features in connection with the arrest of Schepps is that the police authorities here appear to have had no hand in the capture. Late tonight, nearly 24 hours after the arrest of Schepps, Deputy Police Commissioner Dougherty was in ignorance of the capture except for enlightment given him in newspaper despatches.

The explanation as indicated in the newspaper despatches appears to be that the arrest was made by private detectives.

Mr. Dougherty admitted, however, that if Schepps was really in custody, it was a most important contribution to the case.

Was Alleged Conspirator.

Schepps, it is charged, was in the conspiracy to murder Rosenthal, rode in the gray automobile in which the slayers were carried to and from the scene of the shooting and paid off the gangsters after they had completed their work. While Schepps has been missing from his home since July 16, the day of the murder, it is thought that he was in the city up to and including July 18. He was the go-between, it is alleged ,for police lieut. Becker and Jack Rose, when the latter was in hiding in Harry Pollok's house in Riverside Drive. When Rose surrendered Schepps dropped out of sight and no trace was found of him until he was rounded-up in hot Springs yesterday.

Schepp's assertion at Hot Springs that he is the "keynote to the situation" here did not appear to Mr. Dougherty to be an exaggeration. There is little doubt, in the commissioner's mind that Schepps can furnish about all the information that is now needed to round out the case. No confession from the missing fugitives "Gyp the Blood" and "Lefty Louie" is needed. With the arrest of Schepps it is believed that the task of the District Attorney is much simplified.

One Has Broken Down.

Jack Sullivan "King of the Newsboys" has already broken down and agreed to go before Mr. Whitman tomorrow and tell all he knows about the alleged connection of Lieut. Becker with the murder. Sullivan made this agreement with Assistant District Attorney, James E. Smith who visited him today in the west side prison where he is confined in company with Rose, Webber and Vallon, who have confessed to their part in the crime.

Efforts of the representatives of District Attorney Whitman to trace Backer's bank deposits resulted today in locating five more banks in which accounts were recorded in the name of Becker and his wife, representing together with their accouts in the west side savings bank, deposits of over $25,000. All the deposits were made within the last eight months. In one bank Becker was credited with $13,000

Big Police Deposits.

It was also learned that two police inspectors had made recent deposits totalling $75,000.

"Jack" Rose ,it was learned today, has received absolute immunity. It became known that when Rose confessed to the grand jury a stipulation granting him his freedom as soon as he completed his testimony at the trial of the case was signed by the District Attorney and Judge Mulqueen with the approval of the grand jury.

BABY GODKIN LOST AND FOUND.

The three year old child of Mr. Godkin wandered away from its parents' home on Second avenue southwest, shortly after 8 o'clock on Friday evening. Neighbor children started a search for it eastward along Whyte avenue.

About 9 p.m. a passerby saw a child crying on the Mill Creek bridge on Whyte avenue east and reported to the police who restored the baby to its fond parents. It was fortunate that the child was found before dark for had it kept on or turned into the valley of Mill Creek it might have been out in the storm

AN ABLE SERMON BY SIR JAMES GRANT

Eminent Ottawa Physician Deals With the Great Medical Questions of the Day That Are Facing Canada and Particularly the West.

"Turn ye! Turn Ye! Why Will You Die?" was the text of a practical sermon preached on Sunday morning in Knox church, South side, to the united Baptists and Presbyterian congregations by Sir James Grant, the venerable physician of Ottawa, who has been practicing medicine for fifty years.

"In order to protect life, we often have to make many turns," said Dr. Grant, as he confessed to having had more experience in practicing than in preaching.

"No home is happy without the joyous activity of children. They are the flowers of life. The habitation without them misses the greatest pleasure of a lifetime," said he, for he placed children in the place of honor in his sermon.

Appreciate and Protect the Child.

He thanked God that children are becoming numerous in Canada and that their environment is being well looked after through our educational system. He emphasized the importance of the provision of a trained nurse and a medical examiner for the children attending the schools. In all countries of the world people are recognizing the importance of saving the lives of children by systematic school inspection.

Dr. Grant discussed the prevalence of the dread disease of tuberculosis and quoted examples of the children contracting the disease while securing their education.

Continuing, no argued for school inspection. "The brains of children are as diverse as the blades of grass. The strain and pressure put on a brilliant brain in school days often clouds its intellectual activity for life, in the idea of putting an encyclopedia of literature before a young child, is a practical absurdity. The most useless individual is the one who knows a little of everything and yet can do nothing. Let our education be of a practical character."

Referring to the diet of children, he said: "Parents often neglect the digestive powers of the children and their vitality is impaired. Two of the most important foods for children are oatmeal and milk—nothing is equal to oatmeal for keeping up vitality and brain power.

He quoted a critic as saying: "Oatmeal is only fit for horses and Scotchmen." But he criticized the critic by replying: "Where will you find such horses and such men?"

Tuberculosis on Decline.

He had recently toured Canada with reference to a special study of tuberculosis, and after a careful inspection and examination he was pleased to find that tuberculosis is very much on the decline because of the systematic establishment of a series of preventive regulations.

"No disease was more communicable. But it is not hereditary. Sending to California is not necessary." I am strongly in favor of the tent treatment for tuberculosis. All you require is to erect your own tent in your own country."

"Sanitariums are well in their way, particularly for those who have small prospect of recovering and require a home for care and watchfulness. But the prospect of recovery in a large sanitarium, where hundreds are congregated under one roof, taking their meals at one table and breathing the same atmosphere, laden with the germs of a well known communicable disease, certainly lessens the prospect of recovery under such circumstances.

Modern Tenements.

Speaking of the housing problem, he said: "The home is the well known seat of this disease, and the 'Lung Rows' of New York, where people suffering from tuberculosis are housed by the hundred, have aroused deep interest in the importance of the housing problem. In Glasgow today half of its tenements are one and two room buildings, and very much the same in Edinburgh, hence a large share of lowered vitality in these great and renowned centres. In the city of Washington a company has been formed with $750,000 capital for the erection of tenement houses for the working classes at a moderate scale of rent and with all the modern conveniences.

"Already the public believe in the benefit to be derived from such buildings for the poorer classes, whose vitality is thus truly promoted.

"A most important problem in the growth of a new city is the low rate of mortality, for it attracts new citizens. The death rate from tuberculosis at present is almost staggering, notwithstanding the exertions now being made to stay the 'white plague.'"

Inspect Meat and Milk.

He said that meat and milk should be carefully examined for the bacilli in order to avoid the serious results of such an impurity. He emphasized the importance of abattoirs and the examination of meat products by government inspectors for the protection of the consumer.

"Dairies should be inspected at stated intervals to secure the certainty of the purity of the milk supply and its freedom from bacilli. The purity of the milk and the sanitary condition of the dairies of Norway, Sweeden and Denmark helped these countries to find always a ready market for their products.

Japs Utilize Sewage.

"In a new city like Edmonton it is extremely important that the utmost care should be devoted to its drainage and water supply, as defects in either is a cause of disease. The Japs today get over the difficulties of the sewage problem by collecting the material and converting it into fertilizers for the soil, thus adding to their agricultural prosperity.

"The call of the West is the greatest factor in the history of the world. Years ago Sir John A. MacDonald replied to a young man's question by advising him to learn shorthand and go west.

Wonderful Western Progress.

"The call is now answered by thousands who are coming to the prairies of the west and the valleys of British Columbia. Nothing can surpass the present immigration, for it is a concentrated tide of humanity pouring westward with phenomenal rapidity.

Railway Net Extending.

"The part played by railways in the development of the country is truly remarkable. The railway mileage of the prairie provinces has progressed from 3,025 miles in 1893 to 10,109 miles in 1911. Last year fully 1,400 miles were added to the total, and besides the vast fleet of the C.P.R. Then also the extension development of the C.N.R. and G.T.P. have but begun. Still the flood of immigration is really now in advance of the transportation companies.

"The outlook for the Dominion of Canada is truly phenomenal. Its progress and advancement are unequalled in the history of nations. The greatest source of pleasure to our Canadian people is the prospect now before us that we will ere long be able to build an arm of strength of an undaunted character or that grand' old British empire, which today controls beyond doubt the maritime supremacy of the world."

A PRAYER FOR THE DOCTORS AND NURSES

We praise thee, O, God, for our friends, the doctors and nurses, who seek the healing of our bodies. We bless thee for their gentleness and patience, for their knowledge and skill. We remember the hours of our suffering when they brought relief, and the days of our fear and anguish at the bedside of our dear ones when they came as ministers of God to save the life thou hadst given. May we reward their fidelity and devotion by our loving gratitude, and do thou uphold them by the satisfaction of work well done.

We rejoice in the tireless daring with which some are now tracking the great slayers of mankind by the white light of science. Grant that under their teaching we may grapple with the sins which have ever dealt death to the race, and that we may so order the life of our communities that none may be doomed to an untimely death for lack of the simple gifts which Thou hast given in abundance. Make Thou our doctors the prophets and soldiers of thy kingdom, which is the reign of cleanliness and self-restraint and the dominion of health and joyous life.

Strengthen in their whole profession the consciousness that their calling is holy and that they, too, are disciples of the saving Christ. May they never through the pressure of need or ambition surrender the sense of a divine mission and become the hirelings who serve only for money. Make them doubly faithful in the service of the poor, who need their help most sorely, and may the children of the working man be as precious to them as the child of the rich. Though they deal with the frail body of man, may they have an abiding sense of the eternal value of the life residing in it, that by the call of faith and hope they may summon to their aid the mysterious spirit of man and the powers of Thy all-pervading life.

DR. BRUCE SMITH ADDRESSES AUDIENCE

Dr. Bruce Smith of Toronto Addresses Large Audience in Metropolitan Methodist Church — Deals With Health Conditions in the New Land.

Bruce Smith, M.D., of Toronto, who occupied the pulpit of Metropolitan Methodist church on Sunday night, said that after seeing the great grain fields of the broad prairies he would choose as his text:

"It doth not yet appear what we shall be. The earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof."

He said he recognized all the opportunities of the west. Such opportunities are denied others elsewhere; consequently he thought every young man, who comes into this country, has a responsibility.

"The units that go to make up any nation are the individual men and women. The foundation is being laid here. A great future awaits this country. There never was a time when medicine and religion were so closely related together."

Life-Saver, Not Money-Maker.

He considered the healing of the sick as closely related to the work of the church, according to the teachings and example of Christ. Every Christian community now has, in addition to its church, a hospital.

"In Ontario there are now eighty hospitals. Every county now has a hospital, and some have three or four. No hospital in Ontario has ever closed its doors. The hospital is not a money-maker but a necessary adjunct to any church to demonstrate Christian principles.

"In the west there are many who are not poor but are homeless, and when they are sick hospital treatment is necessary," said Dr. Smith, as he spoke of the radius of influence he urged the Christians to support the hospitals of their community. He said the new hospital for the South side would be an educational centre. A university would not be complete without a hospital. He also spoke of the educational influence of a hospital upon the patients, who were there taught the hygienic laws of health.

He urged for the establishment of a sanitarium for patients suffering from tuberculosis in this country where there is so much air and ozone. He said:

"Tuberculosis exists everywhere. The presence of a sanitarium would be of great benefit to the patients. No community should dread such an institution. In Germany, where such have been established, the disease has decreased. It pays to take care of the diseased.

"The death rate in Ontario has been reduced as a result of the care and attention given to this disease.

He Died, Others Have Lived.

"In former times a consumptive was shunned. A poor man was turned away from the doors of a general hospital. He had committed no crime so could not go to jail. He finally crawled into a hay mow and died. But that death resulted in the saving of many lives, by the sanitariums that have been established as a result of this death.

"The sanitarium teaches the patient how to live and sends influences and literature throughout the community that teaches the people that tuberculosis can be cured, and thus preaches the gospel of life, of pure air and of pure living."

The preacher then told of a western man going to Ontario to study their prison system, so that the system of prisons for the new province could be started so as to avoid the need of prison reform. He then outlined some of the prison reforms now being carried out in Ontario. He said:

"We seek now to take the offender and to treat him, not for what he has done but for what he may become. We hope to see the abolishment of the county jail, for out of the county jail men come worse than when they went in. We wish to abolish the school of crime.

"We apply the fresh air treatment as in other diseases. We put the prisoners in the open air and keep them employed constantly out doors. Our jails will be self-supporting farms.

"We are trying to reform the first offender, and particularly endeavoring to reform those committed to jail for drunkenness.

Drunk Sentenced Till Cured.

"A 53-year-old man had been committed to jail fifty seven times under the old system. But now under the new system he would only be committed to jail once for drunkenness, but he would be committed till he was cured.

"Why send a poor whiskey soaked fellowman, for whom Christ died, to jail for thirty days and then when he gets out allow him to get drunk again in a few days and be sent back for another thirty days? We now sentence such a man to a place where he will be treated for an indefinite period till he is cured."

Dr. Smith then urged his hearers to be not listeners only but to be doers of the word and to follow the example of Christ's teaching. In conclusion he said:

"There is nothing to prevent Alberta helping other parts of the Dominion to make Canada a greater nation in the greatest empire the world has ever seen. We must have unity. Foreign habits must be eradicated. People who settle in clusters must co-operate and join hands in making this country what it has been destined to be—The Garden of the Lord."

The audience listened attentively, for this doctor can certainly preach as well as practice. Time will tell whether Albertans and Edmontonians will practice his preaching. As it was a sermon in a church, there was no applause, but as the congregation dispersed after the pastor's prayer for the prisoners arrested for drunkenness, there was heard among the worshippers remarks of approval for several of the points brought out by Dr. Bruce Smith.

A SONG OF POPPIES.

I love red poppies! Imperial red poppies!
Sun-worshippers are they;
Gladly as trees live through a hundred summers
They live one little day.

I love red poppies! Impassioned scarlet poppies!
Ever their strange perfume
Seems like an essence brewed by fairy people
From an immortal bloom.

I love red poppies! Red, silken, swaying poppies!
Deep in their hearts they keep
A magic cure for woe—a draught of Lethe—
A lotus-gift of sleep.

I love red poppies! Soft silver-stemmed, red poppies,
That from the rain and sun
Gather a balm to heal some earth-born sorrow,
When their glad day is done.

FAMOUS BLARNEY STONE.

The story of the blarney stone (which Mr. Winston Churchill kissed recently) is surrounded with a careless vagueness of historical detail characteristic of its comity of origin and quite appropriate to the nature of the yarn itself.

Blarney is a village four miles northwest of Cork, with 800 inhabitants. It is situated on the Blarney river, and has some celebrity for its tweeds; but the castle and its stone are, of course, the main glory of the place.

The famous stone is of triangular shape, and is lowered from the north angle of the castle, about twenty feet from the top. It bears the following inscription:

"Cormac McCarthy Fortis Me.
"Fieri Fecit, A.D. 1446."

How the stone acquired its reputation is disputed, but the version given by Wheeler's "Familiar Allusions" hold the field, probably because it is the only connected story offering anything like an explanation.

When or how it first got its singular reputation is not known, but the superstition concerning it is firmly fixed in the minds of the Irish peasantry, hundreds of whom resort to the castle every year for the purpose of kissing a stone endowed with a property so marvellous.

The story runs that in 1602 Cormac McCarthy, the lord of Castle Blarney, concluded an armistice with Carew, the Lord Resident, on condition of surrendering the fortress to the English garrison; but whenever the fulfilment of his pledges was demanded he invented some smooth and plausible excuse for delay, until Carew became the laughing stock of Elizabeth's ministers.

"Thus," says Wheeler, "the term 'blarney' became a byword and was used to denote a soft insinuating and deceitful manner of speech."

It is said that Queen Elizabeth herself was the first to use the phrase, "It is all blarney."

The reference authorities thus describe the virtue that follows the kissing of the stone:

Dr. Brewer's "Dictionary of Phrase and Fable:" "Whoever does this shall be able to persuade to anything."

Wheeler's "Familiar Allusions:" "The power of imparting to any one who kisses it a fluent, persuasive and not over honest tongue."

Farmer and Henley's "Slang Dictionary:" "Blandishment, soft speech, or sawder, gross flattery, gammon."

Dixon's "Dictionary of Idiomatic Phrases:" "To be full of flattery and persuasive language."

Trench H Johnson's "Phrases and Names:" "Suave speeches intended only to gain time."

Lloyd's "Encyclopedic Dictionary:" "Smooth, meaningless, flattering Irish speech, designed to put the person or audience addressed in good humor, and thus further any ulterior object which the orator may have in view."

The virtues of the stone are immortalized in Milliken's "Groves of Blarney," which contains this verse added by Father Prout of "Relics" fame:

There is a stone there
That whoever kisses,
O, he never misses
To grow eloquent.
Don't hope to hinder him,
Or to bewilder him,
Sure he's a pilgrim
From the Blarney stone.

Samuel Lover has also written about the Blarney stone. The best-known verse is:

O say, would you find this same "Blarney"
There's a castle not far from Killarney.
On the top of its wall
(But take care you don't fall),
There's a stone that contains all this blarney.
Like a magnet its influence such is,
That attraction it gives all it touches;
If you kiss it, they say,
From that blessed day,
You may kiss whom you please with your blarney.

The exact position of the stone is another matter of considerable dispute, and the doubt is much too remunerative to be disposed of.

The general supposition is that the stone is the one fixed by irons to the parapet of the large square tower (which used to be the donjon or keep of the castle), some feet from the top.

This, no doubt, is the stone that Mr. Churchill kissed, and in order to do so it is necessary "to lie on your back over the machicolation."

Others maintain that this is not the stone at all, but that the right stone lies loose on the ground. So far there is no record of the Lancet having drawn attention to the danger of promiscuous osculation such as Blarney invites, a curious omission.

MAMMOTH TRUNK SEWER IN COURSE OF CONSTRUCTION

One Hundred Feet Below the Surface of the Ground Big Concrete Tunnel Being Constructed Which Will Carry to Disposal Plant Sewage of City of 200,000 People.

Over a hundred feet beneath the thousands passing to and from the exhibition, away out Jasper avenue east, fifty men are working in a tunnel over half a mile in length. This little known tunnel is the new trunk sewer.

Yesterday afternoon Assistant City Engineer Bobb, who has charge of the sewerage and drainage department, took a couple of newspaper men with him on a tour of inspection. After climbing into rubber boots, putting on old coats and hats, the party walked from Jasper avenue down to the edge of the river. Here the huge tunnel-like sewer has its mouth. At the present time it opens about twenty feet above the level of the river, but later on it will be taken down below the surface, where it will empty. After the sedimentation basins are located on the flats across the river, a huge siphon will take all the sewage under the river, up the opposite bank to these basins. It is not likely that this will be done for several years yet.

3,290 Feet Long.

Some figures in regard to the sewer may be interesting here. The total length of the sewer is 3,290 feet. It starts up near Fox street, where it will connect with the present sewerage system. The diameter of the tunnel is over ten feet and its capacity is 7,000 gallons per second. It is designed to carry all the sewage, including the storm and rain water, of the city, with a population of 200,000.

The sewer itself is composed of two layers of concrete and three of steel reinforcements. As the tunnel is excavated, the lower half of the sewer is placed in position first. The first work is the laying of a concrete outer structure with tension bands of steel. These tension bands are joined at each side by a steel "shoe," and when the circle is completed, these bands are tightened up. After the first layer of concrete is fixed, steel rods, about two inches in width and half an inch thick, are laid parallel with the sewer. Then blocks of concrete are joined together. In the upper part of the sewer further bands, running around the sewer, help to hold the structure in position.

Start Work at Five Points.

The construction of the tunnel is the most interesting part of the work. This is not done in one direction only. After the line of the sewer was determined by surveyors, different gangs started operations in five different places. One gang started at the mouth of the tunnel at the river bank. Another sank a shaft 110 feet deep and started digging in two directions, one to meet the gang at the tunnel mouth and the other following the line of the sewer further inland. Some idea of the exactness with which the engineering work was carried out may be gained from the fact that when the first two faces of the tunnel met, the centre line was only three-eighths of an inch out. That is two different gangs, working toward each other over one hundred feet underground, came within a fraction of an inch of meeting exactly.

Process of Digging.

When the excavations in each section of the tunnel are in progress, the work is done by three diggers, who, with pick and shovel loosen the earth ahead. As soon as this earth is loosened, stout planks prevent a cave-in. Two or three "muckers," men who carry away the earth, next play their part. They fill up a tiny car, and then roll it to the mouth of the tunnel, or to one of the shafts, where the earth is dumped. Folowing the muckers come the concrete workers and carpenters.

It is always cool in the tunnel. Yesterday afternoon, although it was very warm outside, the temperature below ground was about forty degrees, and it varies very little, winter or summer. It is also very, very muddy, but the men working there do not mind the muck at all, apparently.

In Operation in Fall.

It is expected that the new trunk sewer will be in operation late this fall. The work of surveying was started over a year ago, while the first block of concrete was laid the first of last October. The cost of the tunnel will be $180,000 when completed.

While the work has often been slightly delayed by bad ground, there has been no serious accident since excavation first started. Coal, fireclay, brick clay and other materials have been found by the workmen, but all these have been in such small quantities as to make them worthless for any further investigation.

BANK OF NOVA SCOTIA SHARES.

New Stock Issue of $1,000,000 Being Allotted at 240.

Toronto, Aug. 9—A. H. Richardson, general manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia, said today that the statement appearing in the press here to the effect that he thought the bank was doing well to get $240 per share for the issue of a million dollars new stock now being allotted is quite incorrect and unauthorized.

Mr. Richardson now makes this statement: "The Bank of Nova Scotia issued $1,000,000 new capital a year and a half ago at 268 and it was promptly taken up. The present issue of $1,000,000 at 240 carries valuable rights to shareholders which they will likely take advantage of and I am quite satisfied that they will only be too glad to avail themselves of the opportunity to add to their holdings of our stock and that the present issue will be as promptly taken up as former issues.

"Indeed, although the shareholders received notices of allotment only yesterday and have, as provided by the bank act, six months in which to determine whether they will accept their allotments, and the privilege of paying for the stock in ten monthly instalments, we have already had some of the new allotments paid for in full. The present issue is allotted at a lower rate than the previous one owing to the desire of the bank to treat its shareholders more liberally now that it has a reserve of $7,500,000 on a capital of $4,000,000."

Harvesting in the South.

Calgary, Aug. 5—Harvest is fairly started in the southern portion of the province. The weather for the past ten days has been 100 per cent., and if it continues warm for the next ten days fifty per cent. of the wheat will be in shock. With fair average weather for the next three weeks the Alberta wheat crop will exceed that of any former year.

INNISFAIL.

Bulletin News Service.

A lengthy sitting of the town council took place on Monday evening, Mayor West presiding. G. E. Thorne of the pool hall, and G. S. Holme, of the Alberta Hotel, made applications for bowling alleys on their premises. This the council will consider at a meeting to be held this evening. The livery stable proprietors applied for a reduction of their licenses which now stands at $75 and have arranged to meet with a special committee to confer on the question. Jas. Benton made a request for alterations and repairs adjacent to his property and this was referred to the public works committee. An inteview with some representatives of lubricating oil took place, and a mass of correspondence dealt with. The houses are being fitted inside in readiness for the electric light.

At a school board meeting on Friday it was arranged to leave to the principal the task of appointing the teachers to the various classes.

At the Icelanders' sports and fete held at Markerville last Friday rain somewhat marred the proceedings, it, however, held off long enough to allow the sports to take place and speeches in Icelandic to be made. The attendance on account of the weather was not so good as usual. The Innisfail town band made the journey and caused attractiveness to the occasion. A dance in the evening brought together a better attendance and wound up successfully.

ISLAY HOSPITAL.

An appeal for funds is being made on behalf of Islay Cottage Hospital. Islay is a small Alberta town on the C.N.R. main line east, and well within Edmonton's sphere of influence and interest. The lack of medical attendance and comfort is the ever-pending tragedy of pioneer life. No words can emphasize too strongly its character or extent. Only those who have faced it can fully realize it, but any person who gives the matter thought must understand the horror of an inevitably recurring struggle between life and death, with the long odds on the side of death. The effort to relieve this situation in some measure has engaged the effort of the highest in the land—as witness the establishment of the Victorian Order of Nurses. But conditions suitable to nursing are as necessary as the skill and attention of the nurse—conditions which cannot exist in the shack of the prairie pioneer. To provide such conditions in the little town of Islay for the benefit of the families of the settlers in the surrounding country has been the ambition and effort of the talented literary Englishwoman who appeals for assistance to the Islay Hospital over the signature of "The Green Veil." It was hoped that the hospital after completion would be made self-sustaining by co-operation amongst the settlers themselves. Unfortunately, settlers there face the prospect of a very short crop in consequence of hot dry weather of June, which, following upon the unfortunate conditions of last season, makes the expected co-operative effort impossible for this season. Hence the appeal. It is to be hoped that the citizens of Edmonton will freely avail themselves of the opportunity to assist in the successful establishment of such a worthy enterprise; which must reflect credit not only upon the lady to whose initiative and efforts the hospital owes its existence, but upon the region in which such an institution can be established and maintained.

WHY NOT?

Kansas steers have been selling in Chicago at $10.25 per hundred—the highest price paid since the Civil War. Chicago would be a good place to sell Canadian steers at this time if our Government would allow them to be sold there.

A CHANCE FOR FAME.

So long as there is nothing worse than "dirt" in the milk jug of course we may be thankful that things are not as bad as they might be. All the same, there is a prevalent and pronounced prejudice against taking insoluble solids of this character into the system with draughts of the lacteal fluid. Whoever shall discover the means of providing a city with milk free from dirt and germs, and which will stay sweet until the consumer can get it past his organs of taste, will merit and receive the lasting gratitude of a milk-loving and discriminating race.

NOT BEING ABUSED AT ALL.

Autoists who exceeded the speed limit in Point Grey, a sparsely settled community adjoining Vancouver, were fined two hundred dollars each. Those autoists in Edmonton who have been fined a trifle of this amount for running too fast on the streets of the city have no reason to think themselves singled out for restrictions such as are not imposed upon their kind elsewhere. People in other parts of Canada value their lives and the lives of their children quite as highly as do the people of Edmonton, and are taking the same—and sometimes stronger—means of preserving them from the speed fiend. The automobile has come to stay; but the public were here first—and they also intend to stay.

Made Canadian Rifle Record.

Winnipeg, Aug. 9.—The most successful meeting of the Manitoba Rifle Association came to a close tonight when the various prize winners were presented with their winnings by Lieut.-Gov. Cameron.

G. A. Kent, of Kenton, Man., in winning the feature event of the meet, the Lieutenant-Governor's competition, is said to have created a Canadian record for six ranges, his total score being 195. The Manitoba team for Ottawa has not been chosen, but one of the strongest contingent of shots which ever left the Province is slated for the team.

Roman Catholic Mission in Peru.

Washington, Aug. 9—Copies of an appeal being circulated in England for funds to support a Roman Catholic mission to the Putamayo rubber country of Peru have arrived in Washington. Copies of letters from the British minister at Lima, the British consul at Iquitos and Sir Roger Casement, who headed the commission which investigated the rubber atrocities for the British government, accompany the appeal. It contains a letter of the Peru Mazon companies commission inquiry as well as a short explanatory statement.

Lime For Fertilizing Purposes.

Ottawa, Aug. 9—Notice is given in this week's Canada Gazette of the application of W. B. Ellis, of Vancouver, for a lease of the submerged bed of Cheam Lake in the "railway belt," British Columbia, for the purpose of pumping or dredging from the lake a deposit of disintegrated lime to be used for fertilizing purposes. The department of agriculture for British Columbia recommends that the lease be granted as there is a great need for crused lime rock for fertilizing. The term of the lease proposed is five years at an annual rental of twenty-five cents.

THE CITY CHARTER

BY WM. SHORT, K.C.

ARTICLE NO. 2

The Commissioners.

The duty of the commissioners is primarily as an executive body. Secondly, however, in the performance of their duty their grasp of the whole of the city's business and the experience they are bound to gain will necessarily make them a very important body. Properly understood, there will be no conflict of authority between the commissioners and the council. Any cause of friction will arise rather from a misunderstanding of the limits and authority of either body than from any real clashing of function—clashing of duty. In the change over from the old order of things it will almost inevitably happen that there will be a failure to properly apprehend the duties of each. That failure will in all probability come from the council, which is dropping its administrative function. It will be more or less difficult for the councillor to adjust himself to altered conditions. That which he has done in the past will for him be largely a guide to what he wishes to do, until he shall properly appreciate the fact that henceforth he is to be manager solely, but manager in the sense of having control of the larger matters of policy. There will be a danger that the councillor shall think his authority usurped by the commissioners. The difference is really one of getting the councillor to properly appreciate his increased status. He is no longer a policeman, no longer a street overseer, no longer a foreman in the powerhouse. He is to be the director-general who orders and who requires to have placed before him proofs that his orders have been complied with.

No business man will ever think of engaging a superior officer for his business and not giving him supreme authority therein. If the employee does not do his work well, if he does not come up to the requirements, the employer will discharge him, but he will immediately replace him by another whom he expects to exercise the duties fully. The vast mass of detail is to be completely taken off the shoulders of the council. All they ask is reports—reports that show, it may be, in complete detail what has been done—but these are reports for approval merely, and approval of the right methods is not a question of the councillor giving personal attention to the details. The commissioner will come in with a report as to what has been done, what wages have been paid in doing it, the measure of success that has been attained, the calling for tenders, the careful inspection of the work as it progressed, the fitness of the work when finished, whether or not it has been successful. The detail of the report may be very elaborate; it should have the effect of satisfying the council very completely as to the care that has characterized the carrying-out of the work.

The Commission Idea.

Various methods have been adopted in various places, touching the appointment and service of commissioners. In England administrative duties have been committed to commissioners and large powers granted them under conditions whereby they are practically separated from the municipal authority. A settled condition of affairs, the steadiness of character and genius for self-government peculiar to the people, and the ability and integrity of the commissioners all combine to give admirable results. In Galveston, after the disastrous flood the whole direction of civic affairs was committed to commissioners. The question there was one of life or death. The city had been almost swept out of existence. Under these circumstances men of outstanding ability were chosen and given very wide powers. There was nothing of popular control left to the citizens, but the circumstances were such that all the citizens combined with enthusiasm to support the measures proposed by these commissioners. Their business capacity and the loyalty of the citizens' support were such that the results are pointed to with pride.

A Commission, or Commissioners?

Other places had chosen commissioners under varying conditions more or less tentative in character. Previous enactments had made possible in Edmonton the appointment of commissioners more in line with English precedent. There were strong arguments in favor of that. There were objections, however, to this method—for instance, placing the water-works system under one set of commissioners, the electric light and power under another, the street railway under another and the telephone under another. There would be a number of bodies each exercising important functions without any corelation between them. True, it would be easier to get business men of the highest ability to serve on a body of that kind—that is, a body not directly responsible to the public—because, of course, it is a difficult matter to get the man immersed deeply in business to give attention to public affairs. He may be quite willing to give service, but may be quite unable to obtain and quite unwilling to ask for the popular acclaim.

Therefore, after full consideration of the subject, it was thought well that commissioners should be appointed by and directly responsible to the council. If by making the duties of the council less onerous those men who were in the habit of directing large business affairs, and who were thus trained in the art of management, could be got to serve upon the council, it was thought possible that commissioners of first-class experience could be secured.

It is a matter of common knowledge that the great railway and banking corporations, for instance, have the services of many first-class men; that the service required of these is the most exacting and that the remuneration attaching to their offices is by no means greater than the city would be willing to pay. If such men as these could be got to serve the city, there would be no question as to the results, but the men are difficult to get. The public is a hard taskmaster and the tenure of office under a council is often insecure, but with a good council, experienced in managing affairs, and with a reasonably sure tenure of office, under circumstances which make it impossible to discharge a commissioner without cause, it was hoped that we should succeed in getting first-class men.

As commissioners of a utility entirely removed from popular control, as in the case of Galveston or under the English sytem, it would be easy to get such men. The more difficult method of getting men to serve directly responsible to council was adopted because of the greater possibilities of thereby corelating all the public services.

CORRESPONDENCE

A PLEA FOR ISLAY HOSPITAL.

Editor Bulletin:

Sir—I noticed in today's issue of the Bulletin a letter over the pseudonym of "The Green Veil," appealing for $1,000 for Islay hospital.

I visited this building last month for the purpose of making an official inspection, and I have pleasure in stating that the hospital is well built, and when completed will be admirably adapted for the purpose for which it is intended. It is situated in a well populated district; but the settlers are poor. The need for such an institution at Islay is very great.

The provincial government gives a yearly grant to hospitals that reach a certain standard of efficiency, and that have shown their raison d'etre by admitting and treating patients, the amount of the grant depending on the number of patients treated in the hospital; but the government does not build or equip hospitals.

I do not know Green Veil except officially, and I am not interested in Islay hospital. I have not been asked to write in support of the Green Veil's appeal, but I think it would be deplorable if the scheme were to fall through for the want of $1,000 after the Herculean efforts that have been made to build the hospital, and I venture to ask for space in your paper in the hope that this letter may influence two or three who are undecided whether or not Islay hospital is worthy of their charitable assistance.

I understand that donations will be received and acknowledged by the secretary of the hospital at Islay.

Yours truly,

—V. E. Barrow,
Provincial Medical Inspector of Health.

THE FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL MARKETS

WINNIPEG GRAIN MARKETS

Winnipeg, Aug. 10.—Prices on the wheat market were lower today on the U. S. Government report for Aug. being construed as bearish. Live pool cables 1-4 to 3-8 lower and the excellent reports on crop conditions from both sides of the line. October options were 3-4 and December 3-8 down at the opening and continuing steady, trading being confined to narrow fluctuations. The closing prices were 1-2 lower for both months. American markets were weaker on opening, Chicago being 1 cent down for all months; following opening prices were steady:

Minneapolis closed 1-2 lower for September, 3-8 lower for December and May.

The cash demand at Winnipeg was good and prices steady for all grades apart from number 1 which was 1 cent down but offerings were practically nil.

Oats were firmer today, with flax bids 1 cent higher but closed unchanged. Receipts were 90 cars.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET.

Chicago, Aug. 10.—Predictions that next month's official figures on the yield of spring wheat would run fully fifty-two bushels an acre above the present Washington estimate had a depressing influence on wheat today. The market although steady at the close was down 3-8 a 1-2 to 7-8 net. Latest trading left corn quarter off to 3-8 up and oats 1-8 to 1-4 lower to 1-4 advance. It was asserted in some quarters that the government total for the spring wheat crop should have been heavier by 40,000,000 to 50,000,000 bushels. The entire yield including that from other wheat states was therefore held to promise well above 700,000,000 bushels especially as the general figures reported for Kansas were alleged to be less authentic than the state report, which made a much more bearish exhibit. Good weather northwest for maturing and harvesting also counted against the bulls. Export business in wheat proved disappointing. Canada was said to be offering at lower prices than could be made from the U. S. There was much general covering by week end shorts, however, and so decided support from private wire concerns when the market reached low levels, that prices in the end showed a fair rally.

Stubborn support for cash corn and September option seemed to call a halt on bearishness in regard to the latter months. Beside the chance of accidents yet happening to the growing crop induced shorts to cover on all good sized dips.

Receipts of oats here this week turned out to be two million bushels more than shipments. There was influential buying though after the market had declined.

PONOKA ASYLUM ADDITION NOW IS NEARLY COMPLETE

About Sixty Patients Will Be Transferred To the New Quarters

ASYLUM IS LOCATED ON BEAUTIFUL SPOT

Some of the Patients Help Work the Institution's Farm

An American, traveling in Alberta the other day, let fall the remark that: "It was characteristic of British government that the interests of the people were cared for by parliament." He had been struck with the evidences he saw in Alberta of the care of a wise and thoughtful government for the well-being and comfort of its citizens. In no instance is that care and thoughtfulness for the common weal better exemplified than in the care which the Alberta government shows for the less fortunate of its citizen — those who are unable to care for themselves.

Those whom accident or disease or privation or self-inflicted injury and abuse has bereft of that balance of mind which is called sanity, are looked upon by the provincial authorities as the wards of the province and treated with the most skilful,and tender care. It is only a year since Alberta took over the charge of her own insane, but the manner in which she does it is such that provinces and states that have had the care of their own insane people for a much longer period might learn something from the management of the Provincial Asylum at Ponoka. The number of insane people in Alberta at the present time is not large—there are now in the asylum rather more than two hundred patients—but unfortunately the rapidly increasing populations means an inevitable increase in the number of the mentally unbalanced.

Will Double Accommodation.

There as been just completed at Ponoka an addition to the asylum, which will practically doube its accommodation. This addition has not yet been opened for the reception of patients, but will be very shortly. The original asylum is overcrowded—that is, it is accommodating today considerably more than it was designed for—although the patients are not suffering any actual hardship on that account. Probably sixty of the patients will be transferred to the new portion as soon as it is opened, leaving room in the new building for other patients which must be expected, according to the experience of older provinces, in the course of the next year or two.

Erroneous Impressions.

The feature about the Ponoka institution, which most impressed itself upon the writer, who visited the institution a few days ago, was that the institution was so far from being what an asylum is commonly supposed to be. As a child the writer accompanied his father on a visit to a large asylum in another country and the impression made upon his mind remained. It was an impression of a hoard of wild-eyed, terrifying creatures huddled together in close confinement like dangerous wild beasts, guarded by harsh looking jailers, who had come to regard the human specimens in their keeping as creatures that only lacked the opportunity in order to turn upon them and vent their mad vengeance in fratricide, and that they were consequently creatures to whom it would be a mistake to show any human kindness. The impression was, of course, an erroneous one, but it stuck.

No doubt there are other people who have cherished such notions of what an asylum feels and looks like on the inside. To such, a visit to Ponoka would be a revelation. In the first place, there is nothing about the exterior appearance of Ponoka asylum to show what it is. It might be a hospital, or a school, or an agricultural college. The building, well designed and with numerous large windows, stands on a high elevation, overlooking a wide area of the most pleasing farm land in Alberta—gently undulating country, broken up, by bluffs, trees and winding streams and clothed with rich fields of grain. The asylum is hidden from view on the side on which the road approaches by a fine grove of trees and one comes upon it almost by surprise.

An Up-to-date Farm.

There is more than a resemblance to an agricultural college in the outward appearance. The asylum is surrounded by a farm of 800 acres which is run in connection with the institution. Six paid men are employed about the farm in addition to those of the patients who can be trusted to do small jobs about the place. The work that the patients can do and the number of patients who can be allowed to do this work, is naturally limited. A man who has lost his reason might be set to weed the garden and if he was not watched he might uproot all the vegetables and leave the weeds untouched. Nevertheless, the men who can be given farm work to do are greatly benefitted thereby. There is no lack of method about the farm at Ponoka Asylum. It is farmed on the most approved up-to-date principles and when the writer saw it, the crops looked the best in the district. The farm has nine head of horses, thirty-two head of dairy cows are milked every day, and 100 porkers are fattening for food. The garden raises all the potatoes that are required by the institution and affords an abundant supply of fresh vegetables through the summer.

Where Love Rules.

The asylum takes its tone from the kindly physician who is at its head. The power of love is wonderful and surpassingly great, but can the poor crazed souls in the asylum understand its appeal? At times, they do not. As the writer entered one of the women's wards with the doctor and the head nurse, a poor woman got up from her chair, and, striking out with both fists, attacked Dr. T. Dawson, the head of the institution, with all her feeble strength. The doctor took her ineffectual blows without any anger and without offering any resistance. Then the woman took her seat again, exclaiming angrily in a foreign tongue the while, her eyes shone with the light of unreason.

Such scenes occur occasionally, but during a stay of two hours in the institution, most of which was spent in visiting the various wards and day rooms, it was the only show of violence that the writer saw. The rest of the patients were all peaceable. Some of the men sat meditatively smoking and reading, while others played simple in-

Hon. Wm. Paterson and His Voice; Stories of a Great Parliamentarian

The Boom of His Vocal Organ Was Said to Shake the Commons' Tower—A Master of Sarcasm—In His Prime a Terror to His Opponents—Firm Believer in Reciprocity.

Hon. Wm. Paterson, former Minister of Customs, is the Subject of an interesting sketch in the Toronto Star:

"And oh, David, man," soliloquized Alan Breck after he had shoved his sword through the vitals of a score or so of his enemies, "Oh, David, man. Am I no' a bonnie fighter?"

There is, of course, some difference between the Jacobite gentleman of fortune of the seventeenth century and a retired Canadian Cabinet Minister of the twentieth, but there is this point of resemblance between Alan Breck Stewart of Scotland and Hon. William Paterson of Canada, that they were both bonnie fighters. The day came when Alan laid aside his sword through press of years, and the day has come when the Honorable William has given up his desk at Ottawa through the press of political exigencies, but each of the men could look back at a long succession of tolerably busy years, and a comforting string of defunct opponents.

The landslide of last September removed from the House a number of very interesting men, but when the dust had cleared away, no more interesting figure was buried in the ruins than that of William Paterson. His age—nearly seventy-four—makes it extremely improbable that he will enter active politics again, even if he recovers from his present serious illness. And the haven of the Senate is now accessible only to those vessels which carry a Conservative pilot. So it would appear that the House on the Hill has seen the last of Hon. William. His memory will, however, flourish there for many a day.

Built on Fighting Lines.

When he was at his best, William Paterson was what his opponents would describe as a "holy terror." Nature built him on fighting lines, and he backed up nature to the best of his ability. Standing six feet or so, with arms and shoulders, eyes and jaw to match, he was a striking figure when he rose from his seat. He grew a bushp beard which had the actual outline of his jaw, but the aggressive manner in which said beard stuck out, the blue sparks that shot from his eyes, and the crash of his big hammer-like fist on his desk-top turned men's bones to water, and caused knees to smite together.

But it was his voice that did the trick. They say that when, in the olden days, Mr. Paterson was in full cry, shop windows on Sparks street shivered and the clock tower rocked on its foundations. Such a voice was never heard before in the Commons chambers, and it will be a long time before another like it fills the House with its thunder. Honorable William Paterson could get a chest note about an octave lower than any other man, and when he pulled out the Swell to Great, and turned on the sixteen-foot stops, his opponents fled for their lives. They called him Boanerges, God of Thunder, but they did it behind his back.

Of course stories connected with Mr. Paterson's voice are rife in Ottawa. One does not vouch for their accuracy, but they serve to while away an hour in the smoking room.

Once upon a time a new member blew into Ottawa who had never heard about that voice. He had heard a deal about the man, and his one desire was to hear him speak. He voiced that desire to Number Sixteen—the Liberal committee-room—one day, and one of the wags, who made it his headquarters, saw a chance to get some fun out of the aforesaid N. M.

"Paterson's a good man all right," he said. "It is a funny thing, though, that nothing can induce him to speak above a whisper. He makes good speeches, rattling speeches, in fact, but the trouble is that only about a quarter of the fellows in the House can tell what he is talking about. Next time he gets up you go over and take a seat near him if you want to get a line on what he is saying."

Next time came, and Mr. N. M. rapidly crossed to a seat beside Mr. Paterson. Next moment he nearly fell from his chair, for when the speaker opened his mouth there boomed out a bass note that jarred the mace on the table.

On another occasion a Conservative member from Montreal had been pitching into the member for Brant in lively fashion just before the House rose for dinner. This was on a Friday night, and the Montreal men always leave at six o'clock that night for the week-end at home. So when Mr. Paterson rose to reply the man who had tackled him was not there.

"I am sorry that my honorable friend from Montreal is not in his place to hear what I have to say in reply to him," he began.

"Oh, thats' all right," piped a voice from the Conservative side. "He'll hear you."

But it was not all bludgeon with Mr. Paterson so far as debate was concerned; he did no merely roar. He had a command of sarcasm that was as effective as it was annoying to his opponents, and more than that, he was absolutely fearless in debate.

During the '95-'96 campaign which resulted in the complete overthrow of the Conservative regime, Mr. Paterson spoke in Massey Hall. A catchword of that campaign was the query, "Has the National Policy made you rich?" Mr. Paterson was a big manufacturer who had profited by Sir John Macdonald's trade policy, and nobody thought h would dare to attack it. He had not been speaking long before some one of different political faith shouted at him:

"Has the National Policy made you rich?"

"It has," shouted Mr. Paterson without a moment's hesitation. "I am a manufacturer of biscuits and confectionery, and the National Policy has made me rich. Has it made you rich?" This with a comprehensive wave of his arm around the audience. The roar of applause which followed showed the opinion of the consumer audience, and the speaker was left alone afterwards.

The poet says that years bring the philosophic mind, and as time passed the Controller, afterwards Minister of Customs, entered the hot and dusty lists less and less often. He was as ready as ever to give his time and effort to his political leader, and the wearisome reciprocity wrangle in the House, a wrangle which lasted into the full heat of the dog-days of 1911, saw the ageing Minister in his seat until all hours in the morning. He went through the arduous ten days of negotiations in Washington which led up to the reciprocity agreement. They were days and nights of ceaseless labor, but he stuck it out, though very tired. He believed in the agreement as he believes in the Bible, he was ready to defend it on the floor of the House, but he did not seek combat.

There is a certain pusillanious type of mind which delights in personalities. That type is represented in the House of Commons, and on both sides, too. It showed up more particularly on the Opposition side during the debate, however, and the way it manifested itself was by shouting "Bissuits" whenever Mr. Paterson's name was mentioned and by interrupting as much as possible whenever he had anything to say.

The aged Minister stood all this with commendable patience until his chance came. Then one night long after midnight he rose, and for half an hour the House was treated to one last flash of the Paterson of the olden days. The men who shouted "Biscuits" were told just where they got off at, and told it in the fewest number of vigorous words that would fit the occasion. Before he had finished the interrupters were fittingly and accurately described, and the chamber had filled almost to capacity in spite of the lateness of the hour. For the rest of the session nobody mentioned "Biscuits" louder than a whisper.

Life has been a fight for William Paterson ever since he was a boy of ten. At that age he lost his father and mother within a few hours of each other in the dread cholera epidemic that swept the country at that time. His parents were living at Hamilton, and one day his father was called to Port Dover on business. Just as he arrived there he was struck down by the awful disease, and died in a few hours. A friend started for Hamilton to break the news, and found on his arrival that Mrs. Paterson had died a short time after her husband had left. The orphan boy was taken by Rev. Andrew Ferrier, D.D., of Caledonia, and by him was brought up and educated. He was at first clerk in a grocery store and afterwards formed a partnership with H. R. Leeming in the manufacture of biscuits and confectionery in Brantford. Later on he took over the whole business and prospered exceedingly.

He began his political life by beating Sir Francis Hincks, then Minister of Finance, in South Brant, by 272 votes, in 1872. He continued to beat all comers until 1896, when he was defeated. He was taken into the Laurier Administration in that year, and won out at a bye-election. From that date until last September he sat for Brant, and when he was finally defeated it took perhaps the strongest man from the Ontario House to do it.

In spite of his thunderous voice, his nipping sarcasm, and the political scalps that dangle at his belt, the Honorable William Paterson is a kindly, warm-hearted old gentleman. His defeat did not embitter him, as it has done with one or two of his colleagues. Those who carry a mental picture of that feverish week or ten days during which the Borden Cabinet was in the agonies of being born will remember, in the old Russell House rotunda, his home for many years, the figure of Mr. Paterson, cigar in mouth, skull cap on head, reclining on a sofa in the middle of the uproar of agitated politicians, a gentle smile curving his lips—at peace at last.

Body of Haities President Found.

Port-au-Prince, Aug. 9.—The body of the late president of the Haitien Republic, General Cincinnatus Leconte, who perished in a fire which destroyed the National Palace here yesterday, was found today on the iron bed on which he had slept. The authorities are making arrangements for a national funeral. Ahe transference of the powers to the new president, General Tancrede Auguste, who was selected yesterday by the members of the senate and chamber, meeting in national assembly, was carried out today in perfect tranquility. All the ministers and other authorities appeared to be inspired with confidence in the general, while the army accepted the accomplished fact in a fine state of military discipline.

BOY TEACHER-BURGLAR.

Chicago, Aug. 10—Women victims of Jacob Foy Guthrie, the boy teacher-burglar, who is accused of stealing $200,000 worth of diamonds, miscellaneous articles and art treasures, appeared today against the Chicago "Raffles" and he was held to the grand jury. Among the complainants in court were Mrs. Samuel W. Allerton, Mrs. Bertha Allen, Mrs. Franklin Smith and Mrs. Richard Stern, the women kept out of Guthrie's way as if he was a scourge. The specific charge against Guthrie today was that he had stolen five oil paintings worth $25,000 from Mrs. C. P. Kellogg, $170,000 worth of silk from Mrs. Allerton, $400 worth of silver from Mrs. A. W. Durand and $100 worth of jewels from Mrs. H. O. Stone."

TRUST DISSOLUTION HAS PROVED FUTILE

Representative Gardner Declares Gentle Dissolution is Inadequate—He Advocates Forbidding Concentration of Capital Above Specified Amount.

Washington, Aug. 9—Trusts were not the deliberate creation of man, but were the natural development of industrial and competitive conditions, according to Representative Gardner, of Massachusetts, ranking minority member of the House "steel trust" investigation committee, who addressed the House tonight on his report. He advocated federal licenses for all concerns whose capital exceeded a fixed amount and the creation of an interstate commission of industry with regulatory powers over corporations and prices.

"If we are to dissolve the trusts, the time has come to say so," said Representative Gardner. "If we wish to recognize the trusts the time has come to be definite about it. Don't misunderstand me as adversely criticizing the bills as presented by the Democratic majority of the committee. In my opinion substantially all the practices at which those bills are aimed are unfair and ought to be suppressed. But, if everyone of the majority's bills were to be enacted into law, we should be no nearer the settlement of the trust question."

"The majority's bills do not spell dissolution," he continued. "The stock market tells us so plainly enough. If we really wish to break up the trusts, all we have to do is to forbid the concentration of more than a given amount of capital under a single management and then instruct our courts to dissolve existing trusts into corporations within the prescribed size. That will break up the trusts fast enough, but it will not prevent the surviving subdivisions from arriving at a price understanding in a very short time."

Mr. Gardner declared he did not believe in dissolution as a remedy. He said combinations of capital had their place in the economic scheme of things but they should be made to behave.

"What we need," said Mr. Gardner with emphasis, "is good drastic recognition of large industrial units. We have fooled too long with gentle dissolution."

A return to the competitive system, Mr. Gardner insisted, would not mean lower prices. He pointed to the falling off in prices on the products of the United States Steel corporation in the decade in which the prices of other materials and commodities soared. As a solution of the problem, Mr. Gardner advocated the compulsory licensing of all corporations whose assets exceed $50,000,000, forcing them at the same time to recapitalize at the exact amount of their actual holdings. He would have created the interstate commission of industry, clothed with power to enforce the corporation laws and, if found necessary, to gain complete control of the situation with power to fix prices of commodities.

The fine point of law is as to just what is meant by the word "indemnity," and if it embraces both "income" and "salary."

AMERICANS INVADE FRENCH RACE COURSE

Two American-Owned Horses Win Notable Victories at Deauville, in Wintry Weather.

Deauville, Aug. 10—This charming little race course today seemed to be in possession of Americans. Among the great number in the paddock were Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Montague, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ridgeway, Mr. and Mrs Charles Carroll and Messrs. Hoyt, Thorne Pfiser and Schuyled Parsons.

Unfortunately the weather continues unfavorable, gloomy and chilly. The rain held off, however, and the sport was fairly good, so the meeting may be voted a success.

American horses scored two victories. Mr. W. K. Vanderbilt's filly Alphite, O'Neill up, walked away from the field in the Prix Des Troenes, winning in a canter, and Mr. H. B. Duryea's two-year-old filly, Banshee, with McGee in the saddle, won with similar ease the Prix Yacowlet. Mr. W. K. Vanderbilt's fine colt Lahaire was greatly fancied for the principal event of the day, the Prix Hocqeart, but dashed all hopes by getting hopelessly shut in on the rail about the middle of the race and was heard from no more.

After the races there was a general move to the polo grounds where, in the elimination match for the Grammont cup, the team composed of Compte San Miguel, the Duque of Penaranda, Captain A. Brown and Senor Santos Suarez, beat by 7 to 0, a team composed of Messrs. Merlin, Capel, Van Ryck and Harjts.

There was a decidedly wintry aspect in the dresses, all wearing mantles, cloaks and coats on account of the cold, threateing weather.

In the course of the afternoon the Marquis De Lareinty Tholozan made a number of flights in his aeroplane over the race course, taking up Mr. Pierre Lafitte, director of the Paris Illustrated Daily Excelsior, and wound up by leaving on a flight to Paris, being followed by his brother in a monoplane.

NOTHING DOING IN BOB ROGERS' BRIBE.

Ottawa, Aug. 10—An order-in-council granting the remission of customs duty on donations of food, clothing and other articles sent into Canada between June 30 and August 31 for the relief of sufferers by the recent cyclone in Regina, has been passed. No order was passed authorizing a loan of $1,000,000 promised by Hon. Robert Rogers before the Saskatchewan elections.

TO CREATE ANOTHER FEDERAL PORTFOLIO

New Minister of Mines May be Appointed, According to This Rumor.

Ottawa, Aug. 10—It is very possible that at the next session an additional portfolio will be created and the west will secure a fourth minister. It is understood that strong influence is being brought to bear by the mining interests to have a minister of mines appointed. Formerly the department of mines was under the minister of inland revenue. Last session the branch was transferred to the department of the interior but this is a very busy branch and has too much work already.

Three Balloons to Go to Germany.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 9.—George H. Myers, president of the Kansas City Aero Club, whose two balloons, the Uncle Sam and Kansas City II, finished first and second respectively in the National elimination race two weeks ago, today was notofied by the Aero Club of America that Capt H. E. Honeywell and John Watts had been named to pilot the bags in the international race in Germany next fall. Albert Holtz, of the Cincinnati Aero Club, who took third honors in the elimination race with Dribber, is the third pilot to represent this country.

The observations made and conclusions arrived at by Dr. Barnes will be embodied in a special report which he will submit to the government.

It is probable that the Edmonton Industrial Bureau will become a member of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce in London within the next few weeks. An invitation to join reached the commissioners yesterday, and Commissioner Harrison expressed himself in favor of joining if Industrial Commissioner Hall was favorable. MILITARY TATTOO AT FAIR.

Mr. D. C. Ross arrived yesterday from Toronto to take charge of the military tattoo, which is being put on for the first time in Edmonton, at the close of every evening's performance, beginning on Tuesday. Mr. Ross, who is secretary-treasurer of the Queen's Own Band, has had charge of the tattoo at the Toronto exhibition for the past eight years, where it has been one of the most popular features ever presented in front of the grandstand. Six bands will take part in the tattoo at the Edmonton exhibition every evening.

WEDNESDAY HALF HOLIDAY.

Mayor Armstrong announced yesterday afternoon that next Wednesday would be declared a half holiday so as to give everybody an opportunity to go to the exhibition. This will be the afternoon on which the doctor's convention will adjourn in a body to the fair grounds, and if the usual civic holiday crowd is in attendance, it ought to be a record breaker in the annals of the exhibition. As most of the retail stores close on Wednesday, anyway, it is not likely that there will be any objections from the Retail Merchants Association, which body asked that civic holiday be changed from the middle of August to the last Monday in July.

SERIOUS GRAVEL SHORTAGE.

Building operations in the city are seriously retarded for want of gravel. The supply is very low and there is not enough on hand to meet the large demand of the various contracting firms. The shortage is explained by the fact that the river, which is the chief source of the material, is too high at the present time to permit steam shovels working. It is expected that the shortage will last for some time. The Huff plant, the principal supply house for the city, has been forced to cease operating their plant on account of the swollen condition of the river. Nesbitt and Miller, the contracting firm erecting the new R.N.W.M.P. barracks on Rice street, have been idle for some days because of the fact that they are unable to secure gravel. The excavations for the buildings have been completed but no further work has been done.

It is impossible, according to the secretary of the Builders' Exchange, to proceed with the foundation work of the many buildings. It is stated that if the demand for gravel is not satisfied it may result in a general setback in the date of completion of the buildings now in course of construction.

DR. HALL TO LECTURE.

Dr. Ernest Hall, of Victoria, B. C., will deliver three addresses in the city on Sunday, under the auspices of the Temperance and Moral Reform League. Dr. Hall's reputation is continental and those who once hear him never lose any future opportunity of listening to him. His lectures are intensely interesting and instructive. The following is the program :

At 2.30 p.m. in the Orpheum theatre he will speak to "Women Only," on subjects of interest to that sex. All women invited.

At 4 p.m. in the Orpheum theatre he will address "Men only" on subjects relating to sexual purity and health. Every man in the city should hear this lecture. At its close the third roll of film, "In the Grip of Alcohol," will be exhibited.

At 9 p.m. in the Bijou theatre on First street the third lecture will be delivered on "The White Slave Traffic" This is Dr. Hall's special subject, and this lecture is a noted one.

IN THE POLICE COURT.

The police docket was small this morning, and was devoted to the straightening out of a couple of wages tangles. William Henrickson appeared on a charge of false pretences and was remanded until August 14th. It is alleged that he purchased some clothes from a second hand store conducted by J. A. Ariovich, who preferred the charge, and gave in payment a check which, when presented to the bank for payment, was refused.

IMPROVED MAIL SERVICES.

Semi-weekly mail services are to be established at the pleasure of the postmaster-general between Campsie and Mosside, Burtonsville and aGinsford, Highvale and Mewassin, Brightbank and Stony Plain, Mewassin and Duffield and Manley and Onoway. Tenders for carrying the mails on each of these routes will be received by the postmaster-general's department at Ottawa up to noon, Friday, September 13.

Another Earthquake Shock.

Constantinople, Aug. 10.—Another slight shock of earthquake was felt here this morning. Yesterday's quake was very severe on the southern shores of the sea, at Marmora. Telegraphic communication with the Dardanelles is interrupted, but reports have reached here that the Greek consulate was destroyed. The villages on the Sea of Marmora suffered greatly and many of their inhabitants were killed or injured.

The Turkish seaport of Callipol, 132 miles west of this city, and the town of Tchanak Kalessi, at the narrowest part of the Dardanelles, have been destroyed by earthquake. Many of the inhabitants were killed or injured.

AWAIT BEAUMONT'S ARRIVAL.

Thousands Line Banks of Thames to See French Aviator.

London, Aug. 10.—Thousands of persons lined the banks of the Thames today to await the arrival of the hydro-aeroplane in which the French aviator, "Andre Beaumont," Ensign Conneau of the French navy, had announced that he intended to fly up to London from the mouth of the Thames. Great enthusiasm was aroused when an aeroplane carrying two persons appeared in view and alighted on the river near Westminster bridge. It was later learned that the machine was not Beaumont's, but that of an Englishman, F. K. McClean, who had flown from East Church, Kent, a distance of about 56 miles, accompanied by a mechanician for the purpose of welcoming Beaumont. His flight consumed 90 minutes.

Milling Merger Organizing.

Berlin, Ont., Aug. 9.—Local millers stated today that they are interested in a merger of the milling interests of western Ontario which they expect will be consummated in the course of several months. The merger will involve some fifty concerns, the combined capital of which is estimated at $2,500,000. The object of the merger is to place the Ontario miller on a basis which will enable him to compete with the larger companies of

VATICAN HAS NOT YET RENDERED A DECISION

Monnoir College Difficulty Is No Nearer Settlement—Rome Has Not Decided.

Montreal, Aug. 9.—That Rome has not as yet given forth her final verdict in the Monnoir College case was the affirmation made tonight by Mr. Justice Monet, in answer to a story published in an afternoon paper that a new document had been received from the Eternal City on the subject, and that the offending priests would shortly be excommunicated.

It was false, exclaimed the justice, to say that Rome had said her final word. As a mattea o fact, closely following upon the publication of the Episcopal ruling of Archbishop Bruchesi and Bishop Bernard, interdicting the college, some 1,200 citizens of St. John's had signed a petition to the Holy See, praying for the regulation of the difficulty. It was not on this petition that Rome had decided, as was implied in the news story referred to, since sufficient time to permit of the petition being taken into consideration by the highest church authorities could not yet have elapsed.

v. Canon Lemieux, of Monet College, said tonight: "Negotiations are now in progress leading towards a settlement of the difficulty. We all hope that they will be successful."

"Then you have not as yet made your submission to the Bishop?" was asked.

"I do not care to discuss the question," replied Canon Lemieux, who, however, afterwards admitted that no formal act of submission had been made as yet.

FORTY-FIFTH ANNUAL MEDICAL CONVENTION IS NOW IN SESSION

Distinguished Members of Medical Profession Are in City for Big Convention.

HEALTH SUNDAY IN THE CITY CHURCHES

Actual Work of Convention Will Open on Monday Morning Next.

Many distinguished medical men are arriving in the city for the forty-fifth convention of the Canadian Medical association which opened in the High school this afternoon. Among those who were in the city this morning were Sir James Grant, Dr. Giles, of London, England, Geo. E. Armstrong, Montreal, president, Dr. H. G. Mackid, Calgary, president-elect, Dr. Montizambert, medical officer for the Dominion.

Members Register.

The morning was occupied principally with the registration of the members as they arrived. Dr. W. D. Ferris and other members of the entertainment committee, were busy seeing that the delegates had got proper accommodation. The local members are doing all that they can to make the visit of the medicals to Edmonton as memorable as possible. To this end a very attractive program of entertainments has been arranged to fill in the time when the doctors are not engaged in discussing matters appertaining to the profession.

Every member attending the convention is being presented with a handsome souvenir publication, beautifully illustrated and containing a large amount of information about the city and province.

Opening Ceremonies.

Thos taking part in the opening session this afternoon included Lieut Governor Bulyea, Archdeacon Gray, who rendered the invocation, and Mayor Armstrong, who extended an address of welcome. These addresses took place following the installation of the new president, Dr. H. G. Mackid, of Calgary. Not much actual business was done. Reports were presented on the arrangements and the general secretary presented his report. Members were also elected to the executiv council. This having disposed of the formal business of the session the members started out on a tour of the city in automobiles. This evening they will take a trip on the steamer, "City of Edmonton."

Tomorrow will be observed as public health Sunday and addresses will be delivered in several of the city churches by prominent medical men, including Sir James Grant.

Get Down to Business Monday.

The real business of the convention will open on Monday morning with meetings of the various sections, surgical, pathological and others. A long list of addresses before the delegates has been prepared. The majority of these will be highly technical, but some kill be og general interest to the public. Some interesting papers will be : The address in surgery, by Dr. A. E. Giles, of London, and in medicine, by Dr. A. D. Blacader, of Montreal. These will be given before the convention on Monday afternoon. On Tuesday afternoon Mr. Sturm will lecture on the economics of hospital planning and management, while on Tuesday evening the lecture by Dr. Adami, of Montreal, on "The sins of the father," promises to draw a large audience.

Other Addresses.

"The coroners court in Canada" will be discussed by Dr. D. D. McTaggart, of Montreal; Dr. C. V. Lockett, of Vancouver, will speak on the subject of X-ray diagnosis; Dr. S. Ryan, Kingston, will lecture on "Seven years progress in Ontario Hospitals for mental diseases," and Dr. Forrest Leeder, of Victoria, on "The Treatment of the Aged."

The social side will be a strong feature of the convention. After the lecture by Dr. Adami on Tuesday evening there will be a reception, while on Monday afternoon there will be a garden party for visiting doctors and their hostesses, given on Mrs. E. A. Fraithwaite's lawn, Third street, by the wives of the city's resident practitioners. A smoker for the men will be held in the Corona hotel on Monday evening, while leaving Edmonton at 11 o'clock on Wednesday evening there will be a trip to the Yellowhead Pass over the G.T.P. The local associations extending their hospitality to the members o hfte convention include the Edmonton Club, the Edmonton Golf Club and the Exhibition Association.

Port Arthur Strike On.

Port Arthur, Aug. 10 — That the strike of rail handlers on the C. N. docks is effective was demonstrated this morning on the arrival of the Prince Rupert with a cargo of rails when no attempt was made to unload her. It is rumored that following the lead of other strikers who have been successful of late the truckers at the general freight sheds may go out.

NAPOLEON'S VILLA TO BE SOLD BY AUCTION

London, Aug. 10—A Rome telegram to the Morning Post says that on Sept. 2nd the villa San Martino, on the Island of Elba, inhabited by Napoleon from May, 1814, to February 2, 1815, will be sold by public auction. Besides the villa, which contains a Neapoleonic museum ,as well as furniture used by the exiled emperor, the park of San Martino will also be sold.

HELD PRISONER BY HERMIT.

Young Minneapolis Woman Cruelly Treated by California Hermit.

San Bernardino, Calif., Aug. 10—Through a telegram sent Tuesday by Mrs. Alice Wyman, of Winneapolis, to Chief of Police Sebastien, of Los Angeles, the former's daughter, Miss Bessie Wyman, aged 23 years, was rescued this morning by Deputy Sheriff Ed. Harris from Mike O'Malley's cabin on the deserted Kramer.

O'Malley is a hermit. For over three years he has held the young woman. The first known of her plight by relatives was a leter scrawled hurriedly on a piece of wrapping paper and sent to the Minneapolis parent.

On receiving this letter which described a system of alleged cruelty which the young woman declared she has been made the victim of, the mother wired to the Los Angeles chief of police.

The latter sent the telegram to Sheriff Ralph here and he hurriedly sent his deputy, Ed. Harris, at Barstow. Harris found the woman a mere skeleton in the hermit's shack. Her body showed unmistakable signs of severe treatment. The woman declared O'Malley had kept her a prisoner and refused to let her go and appealed to Harris, who was confronted with O'Malley's opposition.

The latter declared the woman should not take an article with her which he had bought. "She shall go in her bare feet." O'Malley ordered her to remove the shoes from her feet, but the officer interfered.

NO EXTENSION OF SEASON.

Close Season For Fishing in Lake Winnipeg Commences August 15th.

Ottawa, Aug. 9— Representations made to the department of marine and fisheries by certain fishing interests on Lake Winnipeg asking that the fishing season which closes on August 15 be extended on account of the fact that the interests in question have not succeeded in making their stipulated summer catch, have met with no sympathetic response from the department.

Alex. Johnston, deputy minister of the department, has given definite notification that the regulations on the lake will not be changed in any particular since the fixing of August 15th, as the date for the closing of the season was done after serious consideration by a commission, and that there must be no risk of depleting the lake through any relaxation of the regulations laid down.

The commission in question was appointed by the late government. The commission after investigation found that the lake was in grave danger of depletion and recommended that the summer catch be limited to a certain number and the date for the close season be fixed at August 15th. The various companies on the lake entered into an agreement as to the number which each was entitled to by the regulations. Two years ago the same companies made similar representations to the late government and as in the present case, were refused.

Murderers Hanged.

Kamloops, B.C., Aug. 10—Fred James, who murdered Constable Ashern at Vernon, and a Japanese named Takahashi, also convicted of murder, were hanged yesterday. Two hours before he was hanged James made a bold attempt to escape by throwing pepper in the eyes of Keeper Simson. The latter, however, although half blinded, was able to overpower James, who then went to his death with a smile on his face.

GRAIN STILL IN STORAGE.

Ottawa, Aug. 10—There was stored in terminal and eastern elevators on August 2nd nearly 2,000,000 bushels more wheat than on the corresponding date last year. In view of the increased harvest in prospect in the western provinces this extra quantity on hand lends additional weight to the prediction that the railways will be taxed to their utmost to transport this year's production with anything like despatch.

Returns to the department of trade and commerce show that on August 2 there were 7,050,020 bushels of wheat in storage at the terminal elevators in the west as compared with 5,614,061 bushels on August 4, 1911. The total quantity of grain of all kinds in storage was 11,981,185 bushels as against 9,687,449 bushels last year on the corresponding date.

Let the Buyer Beware

FOR centuries the principle of "Let the Buyer Beware"—"Caveat Emptor"—ruled the world of business. In fact, it was not a principle—but rather a lack of principle—yet it held sway everywhere until a decade or two ago.

When a merchant quoted a price, he made it high enough to stand almost unlimited whittling, and yet be profitable—to him. When he spoke of quality, his fingers were crossed, and you were not expected to believe him—unless you wanted to very badly.

Buying was a haggle—unless you were a hardened haggler you came out second best in every deal. "Caveat Emptor"—it was up to you. There was no confidence between buyer and seller.

Business—once an aggregation of deals—has become the living embodiment of ideals.

Advertising has helped, because Advertising creates confidence in the buyer and proves the seller's confidence in his wares. Confidence has eliminated the haggle.

You see business confidence is a good deal like capital, in that it accumulates like savings. The grocery-consumer's confidence in a town will be on deposit chiefly with a few capable square grocers; and dry-goods confidence, jewelry confidence, and so forth, are massed in the same way.

The retail merchant doesn't lock this confidence in his safe. He deposits it in turn with the wholesaler, who passes it on to the manufacturer. And the manufacturer, to make the circle complete, must give confidence to the consumer.

The manufacturer with goods to sell must draw upon all these reserves of confidence. He must demonstrate his own fairness in dealing, his integrity in maintaining quality, his willingness to put principle before profit.

Advertising is the means through which the manufacturer makes this demonstration to you

Advertising has given personality to commodities, so that you now recognize your "friends" among soap, tea, or collars, as readily as you recognize your human acquaintances.

Advertising fathered the "money back" principle, and has made buying a pleasure instead of a duel of wits.

Advertising has spread the one-price policy—erased "Caveat Emptor" from the language of business, and made buying safe to entrust to a child.

Advice regarding your advertising problems is available through any recognized Canadian advertising agency, or through the Secretary of the Canadian Press Association, Room 503 Lumsden Bldg., Toronto. Enquiry involves no obligation on your part—write if interested.

CUPID'S CLARION CALL COMES FROM CLARKSON

Widow, Not Too Young, But, Like Barkis, Very Willing, Asks Mayor Armstrong to Find Her a Husband —Tells Kind of Man She Wants.

"He must be a man of decent height,
He must be a man of weight,
He must come home on a Saturday night,
In a thoroughly sober state,
He must know how to love me,
He must know how to kiss,
And if he's enough to keep us both,
"I won't refuse him bliss."

In a similar strain writes a merry widow of Clarkson, Wash., in a letter to Mayor Armstrong. The Clarkson lady with the lonely heart asks the mayor to play the role of cupid. Mayor Armstrong thought a few minutes, very deeply, with one finger to his brow. Then he suddenly exclaimed: "Ah, ha! The very man.'

"I beg your pardon, sir?' queried Bob English, the commissioner's secretary.

"Here's a lady wants a husband," answered his worship. "Take this letter to Mr. Baines, of the information bureau. Perhaps he can help her out."

Mr. Baines, however, blushed, when he read the proposal.

"I'll find some one," he evaded.

Then a newspaper man came along and the head of the information bureau promptly passed the letter on. Alas, the poor reporter didn't come up to specifications, so he in turn must hand the good news along.

Here is what the lady says:—

"I hear there are many well-to-do men in your country who want wives. I am a widow, 38, no family ties, who came west thinking I could do dressmaking and get a little money ahead and get some property, but living expenses have grown steadily higher and times harder so that I cannot earn more than my expenses, and I am breaking down my health, sitting indoors year in and year out, so I feel that to save my health I must get into a cooler climate. I came from northwest Pennsylvania and New York state. I have a good education but cannot stand the examination for a teacher's certificate here, so I do not see how I can get into anything that is not indoor work. I would like to go to Canada but would not like to go alone.

Not Young, or Pretty, but Willing.

"Of course I am not young, neither am I pretty, , but am as good to look at and as well dressed as other women I see, who are younger, and I am not proud at that. I would want a companion, my own age or older. He must be well respected, well groomed; a good size; English, Scotch or American; a business man, stockman or rancher, and a man who would appreciate a good home and a companion, not a drudge.

"My father was a horseman and I was always fond of horses and fine dogs and used to being much out-of-doors until the later few years. If you know of any such person, please give him my address.

"No salaried man need apply. A middle-aged man who is working for someone else is a failure, and I can be saving by myself, so I would only be 'working for nothing and finding myself.' "

If you feel a responsive cord touched, ask the information bureau in the city hall for the address.

It will be only a short time now when street car extension must be made further west, bringing this property in direct touch with the business centre of the city. It would be well for anyone wishing to secure a lot in the West End to do so at once, before prices have advanced any further, as they are sure to do. We would be pleased to show what we have left for sale at any time.

NORTHWARD THE STAR OF FINANCE TAKES ITS WAY

The Story of How The Union Bank Was Moved on Wheels Into Grande Prairie From Edmonton

By W. A. Rae.

Grande Prairie city needed a bank and needed it badly. There was no doubt as to that. The crops had been harvested, a good yield been registered and pre-railroad prices such as $1.50 per bushel for oats and potatoes been obtained and a place of deposit for our surplus cash was required. What incentive to futre effort would there be if after sowing and harvesting, threshing and marketing we found the proceeds of our toil only a cumbersome burden to us. Besides we needed better facilities for exchange. Were not our friends back in Bruce or down in "Iowoy" sending us remittances which however welcome and timely really afforded us considerable inconvenience in breaking them up into fragments commensurate with the bills we had run for breaking, for feed oats and for the construction of our habitable houses.

But transportation was bad. It was between the seasons. Wheeling was over and sleighing not yet. Even providing the rivers could be negotiated and of these there were several the only suitable conveyance would be one furnished with wheels that would slide when required, or runners that would revolve. After leaving the railroad it was necessary to climb on two occasions to an elevation of 4,600 feet, cross several more smaller divides, go down the break-neck hill, take the high dive and plunge down a canyon. Partly because the journey was arduous, partly because the best financial genius was required only Scotchmen had places on the staff of the bank; Mr. W. Innes as manager, and Mr. F. M. Longear as assistant. Were not Scotchmen the founders of the Bank of France and the Bank of England? So, only Scotchmen would be competent to lay the keel of our financial ship on Grande Prairie.

We left Edmonton on the G. T. P. morning train for Edson. The train was crowded as usual with settlers, prospectors, coal operators, railway contractors and navvies all to separate in a few hours, but all to unite in carrying on the development of this great new land each in his own way. We arrived at Edson promptly at 1 o'clock, p.m., where we were to start "overland," providing the mud had attained sufficient consistency to call it "land." We found Mr. J. B. Taft, the persistent pioneer stage driver, and received orders to leave in half an hour. We made the rounds and took touching leave of exotic fruits and other perishable solid refreshments. In regard to those of liquid form we were already in the restricted district, where alcohol could not enter, although the development of the country was so new that no Carrie Nation had ever cast her blighting spell there.

We made twenty miles on the first afternoon over rough roads and the particularly appetising corduroy, the use of which all departments of public works find necessary to carry a highway over a muskeg. We were [illegible] of a "stopping place" for the night, [illegible] supper was heartily enjoyed for travellers when winter is setting in, particularly when jostled by stump and vibrated by corduroy are always hungry. We then rolled out our blankets on the floor. But then the floor was made out of soft wood. A merciful providence had not planted the hard woods so far west or north.

Next day we were to reac hthe Athabasca river, which farther up towards its source, is the scene of the G. T. P. and C. N. R. construction, Jasper park, the real rival of Banff and the only Mount Robson. We had to climb out of the valley of the Macleod river up the divide whose northerly slope descended to the Athabasca. So fast were we climbing that the difference in both altitude and climate were easily perceptible for we were soon in snow and cloudland. The country was very characteristic of the foothills—all hills and valleys and laughing with springs of water of such purity as only the foothills can produce. The afternoon was none too long to cross the three "hogsbacks" over which the road is carried. But as the light was falling we made a quick descent along a winding trout stream down a canyon arriving at the Athabasca Ferry crossing.

What of the morrow? At this season of the year ferrymen have orders to "standby' ready to pull the ferry out lest it be frozen in or swept away by floating ice. The day had been growing colder and ice was already running in the river. The water was falling and the ferryman had pushed out the ferry so that a further decline would not leave it stranded. But the water fell benyond his expectations and in the morning the ferry was hard aground. The whole day was spent by home-made engineers using home-made engineering appliances in fruitless efforts to dislodge the ferry. The water got very low and towards nightfall a survey party forded the river with both pack horses and a wagon and 'four-up' although the ice-floes were numerous and the current still strong. Our hopes of being able to ford in the morning were high. But the unexpected always happends, particularly around mountain streams. The water had been receding all ady because an ice jam had formed above and was damming the water. During the night the jam broke and the rush of water and ice swept the ferry from its cable and stranded it so high up the bank that it had no further interest to us as it could not be called a working proposition again this season.

The new phase of difficulty demanded a new solution Fortunately Engineer MacQuarrie, the efficient superintendent of construction for the provincial government, was at hand. He was able to propose the remedy at once. It had grown intensely cold and evidently winter had set in, but Mr. MacQuarrie thought that we might supplement the work even of an Alberta winter. We were asked to help nature build a road across the river. The ice would allow a man to walk on it so we set towork to lay poles and brush and make a roadway and thicken the ice by pouring water over the top and allowing it to freeze. We made up a volunteer crew and those from the Ottawa valley or Michigan had to use the axe. The rest of us who had not this distinction were assigned to carry water. Shapely young spruces which some day might have been grafted with toys, candles and pop corn to dazzle Christmas children were hewn down to form a corduroy over the river to allow of the transportation of the more staple pork and beans for the pioneer settler. By the middle of the afternoon and in less than twenty-four hours of the time the river had been forded horses were crossing on the ice and next morning teams and loads could cross safely.

The Baptiste river, six miles farther, being a smaller stream, did not offer so much difficulty. This little river by some means or other, has succeeded in coloring its waters a very gay green. It looks something like an Irish procession on St. Patricks day. But even its attractive color was not its most interesting feature to us. How were we to get across. It was frozen over hard enough to bear team and load for half its width only. The other half was almost entirely open water. We advanced our loads to the danger line, freed the horses from the loads and each other, treacherously cut the ice about them so that they dropped in the water and the driver rode one across th eriver, the others following. We attached a long rope to the wagon and hitched to this the horses were able to draw the load over to the farther bank, and thus teams, wagons, mail, teamsters and passengers were once again united

The ascent from the valley of the Baptiste is made along a winding hill that affords a view of the Rockies worth several days' hardship to see. The hill is known as Fraser's hill, named after the road foreman who constructed the shelf along an easy grade from bottom to top so that one team last winte rtook its load of fifty hundred to the summit. The Frasers are still scaling heights and opening up empires ever since they won the hook and ladder race at Wolfe's cove in 1759. In winding slowly up this hill and watching the Baptiste threading its way down from the mountains among the hills covered in part with evergreens which afford such a welcome relief to the "great white silence" of our long northern winter and with two hundred miles of the Rockeis in full dress parade, stretching nearly to Banff, we would turn again to view this scene in the garden of the gods if we met a fate similar to that of Lots wife.

Another day put us to the Little Smoky river. This was quite safe for passage anywhere as winter had now taken a firm grip. Here we abandoned the rough wagons for the smooth [illegible] sleighs.

The next night we had a variation. We had run out of stopping places and must sleep out of doors. The thermometer stood 35 below zero but we did not know this till afterwards; that is we did not know to what extent the cold expressed itself in a mathematical way or we had frozen to death. If no Fahrenheit had ever lived to express absence of heat by means of a column of figures Canada would today have a population of twenty millions. When you are exposed to the cold your ignorance of the extremity of the weather is not only bliss but positively life-saving.

Well, about the time we stopped travelling "the evening shades began to prevail," but they did not prevail half as hard as the cold. We unlimbered sufficiently to cut and gather firewood for the night, made a fire, and by and bye fried our bacon, grabbed off a few chunks of frozen bread and called it supper, spread our blankets on the snow and called it going to bed. We had ample time to con over the effusions of nature-intoxicated bards—when they gloated over nature's grandeur but we couldn't make it go. We tried recalling the ecstacies of Milton, Wordsworth and Addison in turn and came to the conclusion that night that they wrote these fond lyrics about nature when they were safely incarcerated in some stuffy stifling den that any medical health officer would have condemned. Nature may be a great artificer but we cosidered that night that the man who puts up ten rounds of logs, chinks and puts on a sod roof, makes a door and fireplace and start a fire, is an astounding genius?

We released ourselves in the morning by means of cant-hooks and crowbars, ate our breakfast with mits on, harnessed freezing horses with frozen harness and started the sleigh agaal on its ceaseless nerve-racking grind over the frost charged snow.

Two more days of similar experiences and we reached Gronde Prairie—the end of our journey. Is it all worth while? Is it not foolish to forsake gardens, pavements, comforts and some luxuries for muskegs, sloughs, mosquitoes and black flies in the summer and "below zero" in the winter? So even the bravest feels at times, but only for a moment, for all these inconveniences are but transitory, for the "silent men who do things." Here on Grand Prairie is the finest piece of territory for any branch of the great Aryan family. Here is the last of the free land the occupation of which marks the end of a period in the economic and also the social world, for Macaulay said long ago that with the exhaustion of the free land would come the test of democratic institutions. Here is the best wine kept for the last of the feast. Here is the widest field for the highest genius in industry, enterprise and organization—the last-est west-est.

HAITIEN PRESIDENT VICTIM OF INTRIGUE

Exiles at Kingston, Jamaica, Declare His Death Was Result of Plot.

Kingston, Jamaica, Aug. 10—The Haitian exiles here are jubilant over the turn of events in Hayti. For months past plans were being laid in Jamaica for the overthrow of Gen Leconte and it is said that his death is the direct result of an intrigue between a group of Haitiens now in Kingston and compatriots in Port Au Prince.

The Haitien colony is preparing to return to the republic. Among the number is Gen. Tribonien Saint Just, leader of the progressive party and an aspirant for the presidency. He is preparing to make a bold bid for that office.

The British cruiser Aeolus is expected to leave here at any moment for Port Au Prince.

JUDGE WHO SENTENCED OSCAR WILDE IS DEAD

Sir Alfred Wills Also Sentenced to Death for Treason Arthur Lynch, Afterwards Pardoned.

London, Aug. 9—The death of Sir Alfred Wills, formerly a justice of the King's bench, occurred yesterday. He was a High Court judge 21 years. He always regarded it as one of the misfortunes of his position that it should have been left to him to sentence Oscar Wilde, but he did not shrink from imposing the penalty which he regarded as deserved. To his lot, too, it fell to sentence Arthur Lynch to death on a charge of high treason. Mr. Lynch is now a Nationalist member of parliament, eventually having received a free pardon.

GERMANY NOT APPREHENSIVE.

Berlin, Aug. 10—The French appear again to have been painting the financial situation in Germany in sombre colors, talking about a heavy decline on the Bourse here in connection with the visit of Mr. Poincare, the French premier, to St. Petersburg and the political consequences likely to follow.

The fact is that the Berlin Bourse has been remarkably steady in the last few days. It opened firm today in all sections, particularly in coal and iron, and although the raising of the private discount rate to four per cent. led to some realization, prices were fairly well maintained and the closing was quiet.

There is no uneasiness in regard to the external situation. The reports, which are being circulated in Paris, originate, it is felt here, in the desire to make political capital at Germany's expense out of the French minister's visit to Russia.

NEW BALL REGULATIONS.

Cincinnati, Aug. 9.—August 26 was designated by the National Baseball commission today as the date of each year on which becomes effective the prohibition of "the sale of the release of a player by a minor league club to a major or minor league club within 20 days or during the drafting period."

Attention of clubs is particularly directed to the further prohibition of the sale of a played's release by a minor league minor league club, "within 20 days of the close o fthe season of the club disposing of the player." The intent of the provision is to prevent clubs of lower classification whose season closes prior to September 15, from covering up players through collusion with a major league club or a minor league club of higher classification. As it is impracticable to make a ruling applicable to all leagues. The commission announces that it will consider each case on its merits and ever agreement presented for approval and record will be carefully scrutinized to ascertain if the deal it covers was entered into 20 days before the close of the season of the releasing club.

EVENING GAME HAD EXCITING NINTH INNING

Part of Game Was Played in Darkness—Umps Called It a Tie.

BASSANO TOOK THE AFTERNOON CONTEST

Scores Were: Afternoon, Bassano 2, Edmonton 0; Evening, Bassano 5, Edmonton 5.

The evening game Saturday was one of the most exciting that has been played this season. It was finally declared a tie by Umpire Sullivan although his statement was not heard by many of the fans. The result was that most left without knowing what the score really was. It was five for each team Edmonton securing its fifth run when White was forced in by Hayes walking Whisman. The game was immediately called and declared a tie by Umpire Sullivan. A good many fans were under the impression that the score should revert to the last even innings. Such is not the case however as under rule 24 the umpire is required to declare such a finish a tie.

Edmonton lead until the ninth innings when the score was four to three. Bassano made four runs in that spasm going one ahead. The run that tied came in when with the bases full Hayes walked Whisman.

The Afternoon Game.

Bassano won the afternoon game by a score of two to nothing and Clayton broke his winning streak losing his first contest in six. Bassano made their runs by two doubles two sacrifice hits and a single all in the fifth. The box score is as follows:

MONTREAL WINS 6-4.

Montreal, Aug. 11.—Montreal refeated the Shamrocks by six to four yesterday afternoon.

In the last period Hogan scored twice for the winners. The game was much rougher than previous encounters.

CAPITALS WIN HARD GAME.

Ottawa, Aug. 11.—It took seven minutes of the fastest and most exciting lacrosse witnessed in Ottawa for many years, to decide the Capital-Cornwall struggle in the National Union, at Landsdowne Park yesterday afternoon. The final score was 3-0 for the Capitals. Leo Beauchamps, who had been in the game just a short time, went by his check and punctured the nets for the first time of the day giving the Capitals a lead. The Capitals added two more goals winning the match and thus remaining in the running for the Solman cup and the right to challenge Vancouver or New Westminster for the Minto cup.

NEW WESTMINSTER WINS.

Vancouver, Aug. 10.—Vancouver came with a great challenge in the third quarter but New Westminster proved that they had most in reserve and won the lacrosse game at Queens Park Saturday by six to four.

Vancouver tied the score four all at the end of the third quarter. The second half of the game was well ahead of the first half in speed and accuracy. There had been too much bad passing in the first half and players resorted more to the snappy pass in the last two quarters and to quick evolutions in the danger area. Cummings took Pickering's place and Phelan played instead of Matheson, operating at first home.

Crepe bands were worn by the team out of respect for the memory of former Vancouver player Waldo Matheson, who passed away yesterday. The result practically clinches the Minto cup for Westminster, which team has won seven out of ten games. hope.

JEANETTE CLAIMS TITLE.

New York, Aug. 10.—Dan McKittrick, manager for Joe Jeanette, the new claimant for the heavyweight title announced tonight that he had refused an offer of $15,000 from Hugh McIntosh for the champion to go to Australia to fight. McKittrick said he had signed Jeanette to fight Sam Langford in Los Angeles and moreover, he did not wont his man to absent himself from the United States for so long a trip. He said Jeanette was ready to meet Tommy Burns or any other white

CALGARY CAPTURES THE AFTERNOON GAME

Score in the Afternoon Contest Was Seven Runs to Five.

Calgary, Aug. 11.—The local team had no difficulty in winning the game from the Red Deer aggregation on Saturday afternoon and finished on the long end of 7-5 score. The game was called in the sixth by the Umpire as the football team from Calgary and Edmonton were due on the field. The pitching of Manning was very eccentric and in the fifth he was yanked in favor of Dunn. Dunn allowed one hit during his period in the box.

Allstars Were Beaten In Uneven Soccer Game

Edmonton Team Was Not Playing As Good a Game As They Should Have Played—Score Was Two Goals to Nothing.

By W. B. Thomas.

Saturday was a black day for the numerous soccer fans who accompanied the All Star team to Calgary to try conclusions with a similar aggregation of the south town. Three weeks ago when Calgary visited us the local boys secured a hard fought game by the score of 2-1. On Saturday they had the compliment handed back to them with the addition of an extra goal, and they didn't even have the satisfaction of knowing that they deserved a better fate. Even the referee must be complimented on the way he handled the game. With the exception of two occasions when he ruled the Edmonton right wing offside when they were not, he was absolutely impartial, and he can in a measure be excused for these two occasions seeing that Collyer had established a record for himself by getting offside on nearly every opportunity.

With the exception of a slight change in the Calgary team the line up was the same as the previous game, but that is about all that was similar. Anyone who saw both games would think that the Edmonton boys were nearly all changed.

Edmonton lost the toss and faced the wind and sun for the first half and although the home team did the majority of the pressing during this period they failed to score before half time, and the hopes of the visitors were consequently raised when they commenced the game after the interval. They were disappointed however as Calgary would persist in keeping the play down in the Edmonton goal. The second goal was very doubtful from an offside point of view but the fact remains that Calgary deserved it on their play. Calgary put up a splendid exhibition of football which stood out all the better by contrast. Their defence was a stone wall and their attack was a teasing aggregation that kept the Edmonton defence on the jump all the time. To give Edmonton their due it can be said that no man really played badly; it just seemed as though they had lost their idea on distance and combination. Time after time it seemed as though they were going to settle down to their stride, but a minute or two after they would be all out of tune again. Parker in goal was one redeeming feature and played a brilliant game. Kinsman and Whitehead at back made a few bad slips but considering the amount of work they were called on to undertake did pretty well. On the half-back McIntosh worked like a hero and was consequently beginning to tire before the game was finished, but he held his end up well and did not seem to be affected by the prevalent blight. Of the forwards no one can be said to have played particularly, well. Occasional flashes of good play were seen but they died out before shooting range was reached. They worked hard enough but the Calgary defence was too much for them. On two occasions Tweedale and McLuckie looked dangerous but they were both times that important half second too late.

This is the first year that picked teams from both cities have met, but judging from the interest taken in the games it will not be the last. There was a good sized crowd at both games and they have come at a time when there is usually nothing very exciting going on in the football world. There is no reason why they should not be played every year, in fact it would be a good oppartunity for someone to earn a reputation for himself as a sportsman to put up a trophy to meet the requirements.

The Edmonton fans who were down at Calgary would like to tender their thanks to the authorities for one courtesy that was shown them along with the rest of the crowd that attended the match, for calling the Baseball game between Calgary and Red Deer because they had reached the time that the Football game was scheduled.

Edmonton soccerites are not used to treatment like that.

The Sells-Floto circus received an excellent reception from the citizens of Edmonton on Saturday. It is estimated that between 10,000 and 15,000 people attended the two performances Saturday afternoon and evening. The circus was the most meritorious performance of this nature which has been seen in Edmonton this year. The immense tent on Second street failed to hold the thousands who demanded admission and many went away seeing the uselessness of any attempt to enter. In the main tent there was "something doing every minute," in the words of the announcer. Three rings with a continuous program kept the crowd gasping in an attempt to see everything going on.

Dr. Ernest Hall, of Vancouver, will give an illustrated lecture to ladies only in the new high school this (Monday) evening at eight o'clock. There will be a collection at the door. Alex. Galbraith, of Janesville, Wisconsin, senior member of the firm of Alex. Galbraith & Son, left Edmonton Saturday night after a few days' visit with John C. Chadwick, 467 Fourteenth street.

Galbraith & Son are among the largest importers of Clydesdale horses in the United States, and Mr. Galbraith has been visiting the leading cities of Western Canada with a view of locating. He has about decided to move his family to Edmonton this fall and open a sale stable of imported horses. Mr. Chadwick has been acquainted with Mr. Galbraith over twenty years, and informs the Bulletin that he is one of the best judges of draft horses in the United States, an honest dealer and a gentleman in every sense of the word.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to convey to our friends our thanks for their many acts of kindness to us during our recent trouble. Especially are we indebted to the people of the Sturgeon; never have we known people who came nearer fulfilling the divine law, "Love thy neighbor as thyself." The community in general, the miners, the men on the construction work, the preachers, all united in one effort to help us. Also we wish to mention the ministers, and congregation of the Norwood Methodist church, the mounted police, and many other citizens of Edmonton, who were so self-sacrificing in their kindness. Yours in gratitude,

—Tom F. Mayson.

ed the brilliant idea of showing her that he had rid her of the reptile. So he blindfolded her, gave her a powerful emetic, slipped a live lizard from his pocket into the basin and then showed the woman the animal. But instead of believing that she was now cured, the woman promptly became more than ever convinced that she was full of the little brutes, and finally had to be sent to an asylum. Moral—It doesn't always work.

Rev. W. L. Geggie, who is occupying the pulpit of the First Presbyterian church during the summer, pointed to himself as an example of what could be done by a man's will. He told how he had lost all his brothers ad sisters in Scotland from tuberculosis. His doctor advised him to come to Canada. For some time after his arrival he was despondent and gloomy. Then one day he decided to try and forget all about the disease. "And," he concluded, "the treatment has worked, for, as you can see, there is nothing wrong with me now. I am still alive and well."

McDougall Methodist Church pulpit was occupied on Sunday night by Dr. Halpenny, of the University of Manitoba, Winnipeg, as the representative of the Canadian Medical Association at present convened in the city. Notwithstanding the heavy rain storm just before church time the building was crowded. Dr Halpenny delivered an interesting address and gave his hearers some good, strong advice with regard to plain everyday health truths.

In opening, he stated that the association was pleased to convene in Edmonton while that city was in the making. Five years from now he predicted that if any of the present visitors chanced to stary back to the city they would see immense changes. The medical men, he said, were compelled to admire the growth of the universities of Saskatchewan and Alberta and also the excellent system prevailing in Alberta for the care of dependent and neglected children.

Dr. Halpenny dealt with a number of the physicians silent partners. One of the strongest of these was natural forces. The human body is able of itself to cure any ailments to which it is heir.

"In a visit to a number of drug stores in your city yesterday," said Dr. Halpenny, "I was very pleased to note the absence of any great quantity of patent medicines on the shelves."

He went on to criticise strongly the giving of drugs to cure illness. The blind faith of some people in these concoctions is almost ridiculous, he said, were it not so serious, some even believing that they could cure pneumonia, typhoid fever, etc.

Dr. Halpenny's concluding words to the congregation emphasized the necessity of fresh air, sunshine, rest, pure water and good milk.

AT THE BETHPHAGE HOME.

Bethphage Home was the scene of some exciting incidents lately. Yesterday the matron had gone to sleep after another "all-night," when she was roused by a scream. A patient had been in Miss Hyde's care on the verandah, when by a quick spring she eluded her,and in a breathless race came out first with the bathroom door bolted in her nurse's face. She struck terra firma a moment later, and Dr. Campbell was on the scene in a few moments. Nothing worse than some bruises and a nervous shock was the result, but upstairs she went, closely guarded, half an hour later, and tried to jump from the balcony.

Some of the council's new grant is purchasing the much needed bars for upstairs windows. Any news of a larger house, preferably a double house, would be gratefully received by the matron, who would also be glad to communicate with some good woman who might like to enter the work of the home.

To Invite Churchill to Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Aug. 10.—Mayor Waugh says: "If the city council decides to send to Winston Churchill an invitation to visit Winnipeg, if he and other English notables decide to come to Canada, I will be very pleased to cable officially invitating Mr. Churchill to include Winnipeg in his visit to Canada. I understand that he has already been in Winnipeg, but I am sure he would never be willing to leave Canada on this visit without coming to this city."

ENTERTAINMENTS

PRINCESS VICTORIA.

The Princess Victoria, the tiniest bit of humanity in the world, will be one of the principal attractions at the fair this week. The Princess was born in Melbourne ,Australia, on Aug. 3, 1888 ,and hence is 23 years old. She weighs 19 3-4 pounds and is 25 1-2 inches high. Some idea of the diminutive proportions may be obtained when it is understood that she stands upon the outstretched hand of the proprietor of the show, Charles M. Abrahams.

Attached to the show are two lackeys, and A. J. Wagner, 7 feet, 2 inches high, the Princess' giant footman. These men together with her chaffeur, Mr. Guernsey, are attired in sky blue liveries, with jackboots ,white breeches and top hats. In front is displayed Princess Victoria's own limousine, a white bodied Cole 40. The little lady's compartment, built to dimensions, is attached to the rear ,and is upholstered in red leather and crimson silk. The Princess' performance consists of singing, both "straight" and in character (as an Irish lass); recitations, bell-ringing, playing on the glockenspiel and on sleighbells.

CITY LAW STUDENT DROWNED AT WABAMUN

J. W. S. Duncan, With the Firm of Robertson, Dickson and McDonald, Lost His Life When Canoe Upset on Sunday Morning.

A gloom was cast over the summer resort of Wabamun by the accidental drowning yesterday morning of J. W. S. Duncan, aged 24, of Edmonton. This is the first drowning accident of the year and the large number of campers at the lake were beginning to hope that the fatalities of a year ago would not be repeated.

The young man who met with such a tragic death left Edmonton on Saturday for Lake Wabamun, where he proposed camping over the week end. On Sunday morning at nine o'clock he went out in a canoe with Hon C. Kent, a law student at Bishop and Delavault. Kent was a chum with whom the deceased had been tenting.

They had been on the water about half an hour when they rounded Solomon's Point, about a quarter of a mile from shore. Up to this time they had been paddling in comparatively calm water. Rounding the point, however, the canoe entered breakers and commenced to fill. The two young men were forced to jump for their lives. They clung to the canoe for a moment, stripping off their raincoats and sweaters and then started to swim for shore together.

Turned Back to Canoe.

They had gone only about 25 feet from the canoe when Duncan said he could not make the shore and told Kent to go on without him. Duncan turned back to the overturned canoe while Kent went on to the shore alone not anticipating any danger for his chum, whom he knew to be a good swimmer. Kent started off alone shouting "So long, old boy, hang on as long as you can," thinking that he would be able to bring relief before Duncan lost his grip.

Kent had gone only a short distance farther when he heard a shout from Duncan. Glancing about he saw the canoe and thought he saw Duncan but was not sure as the breakers were high. However, he continued to make for shore as he still did not believe Duncan to be in danger.

Finally Reached Land.

After swimming about three quarters of an hour Kent finally made the point and ran around to town for aid. He returned shortly with Wm. Menzies and Hardy Leonard, who went out in a launch to get Duncan. They found the canoe and the wearing apparel, discarded by the two young men, but discovered no trace of the young man. Later a launch in charge of Wm. Menzies, Mr. Dixon and R. E. Frizzell put out to the scene of the accident but they were also unsuccessful.

By this time the searchers began to realize that Duncan had probably lost his hold on the canoe and sank. The only theory for the young man's drowning is that he took a cromp shortly after Kent left him and was unable to keep afloat. He was a better swimmer than his chum and an all-round athlete. In fact when the two left the canoe Duncan started off at a rapid rate, too rapid for Kent who asked him to swim more slowly.

Came From Lethbridge.

Duncan had been in the city for less than a month. He was a law student in the office of Robertson, Dickson and MacDonald. He came to Edmonton from Lethbridge where he studied law in the office of Conybeare and Jones. He graduated in 1909 from the University of Manitoba at Winnipeg where he took a scholarship. From Winnipeg he went to Lethbridge where he entered the office of Simmons and Shepherd, later going with Conybeare and Jones.

He took his final examinations in law this spring and passed with a high mark. During his short residence in Edmonton he roomed at the Y. M. C. A. where he made many friends.

Parents Were Wired.

His parents reside at Summerside, Prince Edward Island. An officer of Prince Edward Island. They were wired last night notifying them of the death of their son and it is probable that the body will be shipped east for burial tomorrow. The lake was searched until late last night. An officer of the R. N. W. M. P. will leave the city today for Lake Wabamun and continue the search.

May Join Agreement.

San Sebastine, Spain, Aug. 11.—A local newspaper today announces that Spain is likely to join the British-Franco-Russian agreement after the Franco-Spanish treaty relative to Morocco has been signed.

LETHBRIDGE MAN HTRE.

H M. Izlar, racing secretary of the Lethbridge exhibition, is in the city this week and will have a tent at the fair grounds to meet race men and other exhibitors whom he wishes to interest in the southern show. Mr. Izlar is arranging for a special train to take race horses and exhibits south at the end of the week. The Lethbridge fair will be held all next week, with races on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

PURE PORK OVERTURNED AT SOUTH SIDE DEPOT.

Nine valuable pure bred Berkshire pigs enroute from Cainsville, Ont., to Vegreville, arrived at the C. P. R. station by express on Friday. They were securely fastened in a double crate with the little ones in the upper berth. Having travelled all the way from Ontario to Edmonton in the cramped quarters their pen was rather odoriferous and the little pigs were rather in need of exercise

The double decked animal crate was unloaded upon an express truck which when wheeled around the south east corner of the station was accidently upset. The crate of pigs were turned upside down and the upper berth broke under the strain of the fall and the weight of the heavier pigs. Out came the little creatures, which, after dodging the traffic of the street, enjoyed a feed of grass on a vacant lot until they were coralled in a nearby stable.

PONOKA ASYLUM ADDITION NOW

door games. Some of the women were doing little bits of fancy work, but the majority sat around and talked, but all stopped to look at the visitors, possibly hoping they might recognize a relative or friend.

Lights and Shadows.

It is said to be the mark of a sane man that he sometimes changes his mind, but people whose minds are unbalanced do not always look or act insanely. There were some in the Ponoka asylum who looked intelligent, reasonable persons. Another day they might be like the poor old woman who thought the kindly doctor was her enemy. There were few of the men who were infirm, but among the women a considerable proportion were obviously ill and suffering in body as well as in mind. The difference in the physical condition of the men and women patients was not only noticeable but striking. This, Dr. Dawson explained, was, to some extent, due to the difficulty that was experienced in getting the women to take a sufficient amount of nourishment. The men, on the other hand, mostly have good appetites. The proportion of the women patients who appeared to be in even fair physical condition was much smaller than in the case of the men. At least one woman, however, showed surprising skill and ingenuity which she had directed to the drawing of artistic pictures on some of the interior windows, using no other material than a polishing fluid, which left a frosty deposit on the glass, for her color and her finger for her brush.

Dr. Dawson will tell inquirers that there are various degrees of insanity; there is mania-acute, common and subacute; there is also delusional insanity and the insanity of the person afflicted with epilepsy. Among women insanity frequently takes the form of melancholia. As to the causes of insanity, perhaps the doctor would place first hereditary tendencies and after that alcoholism and certain forms of vice.

The Physician's Reward.

The great reward to which Dr. Dawson, Dr. E. H. Cook, his assistant, and the others who have the care of the insane look forward is the rebirth in their patients of sanity. To create, with the help of the forces of nature, a new mind in a patient, is probably one of the greatest works to which human skill and learning can be directed. Dr. Dawson is naturally anxious that the Ponoka institution should show a fair perentage of cures. So far, despite the best efforts of the staff, the institution has not shown such a record of cures as Dr. Dawson thinks they ought to be able to show, but this is owing to the fact that 165 of the patients who were taken over from Brandon, where Alberta's mentally infirm were formerly cared for, were practically all confirmed cases, the best naturally having recovered during residence in that institution. Still, the percentage of recoveries, about twenty-five per cent., is, to the provincial authorities at any rate, satisfactory.

The Hon. A. J. McLean, provincial secretary, under whose jurisdiction the institution comes, is proud of the good work that it is doing. As the writer left the asylum, a nurse, in the dining-hall, where the last of the supper things were being cleared away, was playing at the organ and singing :

At even ere the sun was set,
  The sick, O Lord, around thee lay;
Oh, in what divers pains they met,
  Oh, in what joy they went away.

W.C.C. TOURNAMENT CLOSED SATURDAY

Calgary, Aug. 11.—The Western Canada Cricket tournament came to a close Saturday. Alberta drew with Manitoba. The Alberta team declared at the sixth wicket for 339 runs. When stumps were drawn for the day, Manitoba had only lost four of their wickets for 202. Trotter played a beautiful inning for 102 runs. Calgary easily defeated Saskatchewan by three wickets, the total score for Saskatchewan being 137 all out. Calgary had made 189 runs for the loss of 7 wickets when stumps were drawn.

The tournament has been a success all week and the cricketers have enjoyed glorious weather with the exception of Monday. By the number of centuries scored during the week, it has shown what splendid cricketers took part in the tournament. The Alberta team today were presented with the Dingwall trophy. They were easily the better team and succeeded in playing all week without a defeat. Manitoba was not strong enough in the bowling and Saskatchewan was also very weak in this respect. Calgary had a good team and thoroughly deserved to take second place.
